Will Re-Negotiate U.K. Meat Contract

By Chester Bloom
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, Nov. 22.—Walter Tucker, Liberal leader in Saskatchewan, accompanied by William Wood, former president of the Saskatchewan Association of Municipalities and Liberal candidate in Kinistino, have been in Ottawa for two days pleading the case of a market for western livestock growers. Apparently, they have had some success with the cabinet as it is reported here that the government has decided to take steps to raise bacon, pork and beef prices to the growers by various methods.

Action, it is reported, awaits the arrival here next week of a marketing delegation from the British government to deal with re-negotiation of British contract meat prices.

According to these unofficial reports the plan aimed to off-set the feed price rises caused by removal of ceilings and subsidies on oats, barley and feed grain embraces these points:

RE-NEGOTIATION OF the British bacon contract, already increased from 25 cents to 29 cents a pound, to a still higher figure.

Similar re-negotiation of the beef contract price.

Soviet Authorities Hold Edmonton Man

OTTAWA, Nov. 22. — (CP) — The external affairs department confirmed last night that two members of the Canadian military mission in Berlin were being detained by Soviet authorities in the Kaleningrad border area on charges of illegal entry into Russian territory and that Canadian representations had been made for their release.

THE DEPARTMENT identified the two Canadians as J. D. M. Weld and Capt. A. W. Clabon of Edmonton of the Canadian military mission and said that the commander of the Keleningrad border area was awaiting authorization from Moscow before allowing them to proceed.

John Holmes, Canadian Charge D'Affaires in Moscow, has, under instructions from the Canadian government, asked that Weld and Clabon be permitted by Soviet authorities to return to Berlin.

"He has added that it is the desire of the Canadian government to investigate fully the circumstances leading to the detention of these two Canadian officials," the external affairs department said. "If after study of the matter an illegal crossing of the border or any breach of regulations is established, disciplinary action including, if necessary, recall to Canada, will be taken.

"If its is not immediately possible for Weld and Clabon to be returned to Berlin, Mr. Holmes

Arrest Jews; Find Hidden Arms

JERUSALEM, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Police struck three times at Jewish underground arms supplies yesterday and expressed concern over the possibility of renewed Jewish-Arab warfare.

Eight Jews were arrested and a quantity of arms and ammunition seized in two raids. One Jewish girl was arrested in a Jerusalem house where automatic and small arms were found. Six Jews were arrested in an apartment in Arab Jaffa and two tommyguns, a sten gun and other arms seized. The eighth Jew was arrested on a Tel Aviv street carrying two revolvers.

Concern over the possible revival of racial clashes stemmed from the wounding of five Jews when a bus in a Tel Aviv suburb was fired upon last night. A police officer said the shooting was believed to have been retaliation for the slaying of five Arabs by a band north of Tel Aviv at dawn Thursday.

Schuman Designated to Form Govt.

Blum Rejected as French Leader

By Joseph W. Grigg

PARIS, Nov. 22.—(BUP) — President Vincent Auriol designated Robert Schuman, a Popular Republican, today to form a new government, a task at which Leon Blum, probably the nation's most respected elder statesman, had failed.

A NEW GOVERNMENT was urgently needed, because the nation was without a leader in the worst crisis of the Fourth Republic. Communist-led unions had pulled 750,000 men out of France's most vital industries and a strike was rapidly crippling the railroad system.

Schuman, 61, Finance Minister in the cabinet that fell Wednesday, said he did not reject or accept the

Arctic Rescue Is Carried Out

WINNIPEG, Nov. 22.—(CP) — Canon John H. Turner, seriously-wounded Church of England missionary from snow-swept Moffet Inlet, last night rested at Coral Harbor, only eight flying hours from Winnipeg and the hospital bed which has been awaiting him for more than seven weeks.

Army headquarters here reported last night that a message received from FO. Bob Race, pilot of the RCAF Dakota aircraft which earlier Friday had evacuated the missionary, his wife, two children, an Eskimo girl and four army paratroopers from the mission post 400 miles within the Arctic Circle, said that the "Snowbird" had skimmed to a safe landing at Coral Harbor.

Flight from Coral Harbor to Churchill, Man., was underway today, with Winnipeg probably reached in mid-afternoon.

Two Men Killed Near Nisku Siding

Two men were instantly killed Friday morning when the truck in which they were riding was struck by a CPR train near Nisku Siding about 12 miles south of Edmonton.

One of the dead men is an Edmonton man, Sidney Smale, 10839 80 avenue, while the other is William H. Wilson, who had been living at Nisku but is believed to be from Nova Scotia.

The train which struck the vehicle was the Edmonton-Hardisty local. The engineer of the train is reported to have blown the whistle previous to approaching the level crossing and RCMP said they believed the men in the truck neither heard the whistle nor saw the train.

The truck had just pulled away from the store about 200 feet east

On German Administration

Russia Raps Britain, and U.S.

By Richard Kasischke

BERLIN, Nov. 22.—(AP) — Soviet Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky bitterly denounced the western allies' administration of occupied Germany at a meeting yesterday of the Allied Control Council, accusing them of violating the Potsdam and Yalta agreements and other accords on denazification, demilitarization and reparations.

HIS CHARGES were made public today in a joint communique. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, United States military governor, planned to reply at a press conference.

For nearly twohours ,Sokolovsky, Russian chief in Germany, held the floor in the council and, almost on the eve of the Big Four foreign ministers meeting in London, criticized almost every phase of the occupation in the western zones of Germany.

He charged, among other things,

Final Agreement Partition Plan

By ROSS MUNRO

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 22.—(CP) —The nine-member Palestine sub-committee reached final agreement last night on modifications to its plan to implement Palestine partition, it was officially announced.

These modifications were made in an effort to meet the objections of the United Kingdom to the plan which divides the Holy Land into Jewish and Arab states.

Herschel Johnson, United States delegate, said his government had agreed to accept the modifications and the Russian delegate, Semen Tsarapkin, said the Soviet government was also in agreement.

Word had been received from both Washington and Moscow early last evening which broke the deadlock on this modification question.

Details of the sub-committee's adjusted plan will be made public today in the 57-member Palestine committee.

Meanwhile at Flushing Meadow, the general assembly in plenary session adopted the United States proposal that the big power veto question be referred to the year-round "little assembly" for consideration.

The vote was 38 against the six-state Russian bloc, with 11 abstentions. Canada voted for the resolution.

Action Against Meyers Possible

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(AP) —The United States Senate war investigating sub-committee closed its inquiry into the tangled war-time dealings of Bennett E. Meyers today with an announcement by Chairman Homer Ferguson (Rep.-Mich.) that the entire record is being sent to prosecuting officers for possible criminal actions.

The committee ended the hearings after Gen. Henry H. (Hap) Arnold, wartime head of the air forces, testified that "on the evidence before you, a high-ranking officer has disgraced his uniform and his rank."

No Promises But Consideration

VANCOUVER, Nov. 22.—(CP)—Veterans Affairs Minister Ian Mackenzie yesterday told a Canadian legion delegation that its case for an increase in veterans' allowances will be considered by a parliamentary committee after the New Year. The delegation had presented the minister a brief.

While Mr. Mackenzie made no promises of specific aid to veterans attending universities, he declared the federal government recognizes that general living costs have risen 23 per cent since the establishment of allowances and pensions.

that British and American authorities attempting to transform their zones into "strongpoints to support the Anglo-American campaign of imperialism in the centre of Europe."

HE CHARGED further:

1. That the demilitarization of Germany was not being carried out in the western zones.

2. That American and British occupation authorities are "frustrating" the liquidation of armament plants in their zones, and maintaining German units and officer corps in order to build their "strongpoints."

3. That former leaders of German industry and monopolies are being set up in new corporations and monopolies, "leading to a practical retention of the German monopolies, which represents a threat to future peace and the security of the nation."

4. THAT THE BRITISH and American occupation authorities also are sabotaging the agreements on reparations made at Yalta and Potsdam.

5. That the British and American authorities are shipping "tremendous hidden reparations" out of their zones under the guise of exports.

6. That American and British authorities are promoting in their zones and in Berlin "an intensive propaganda for a new war" under the name of "a campaign against Communism."

7. That the agreements over the "democratization" and denazification of Germany are not being carried out in the American, British and French zones.

8. THAT THE SOVIET-sponsored Socialist Unity Party is not permitted in the western zones but that "reactionary organizations of every kind" are tolerated by the British and American authorities.

9. That although land reform has been completed in the Soviet zone, it has not been carried out in the western zones.

10. That the western allies have undertaken separate measures leading to the liquidation of German unity.

Honeymooners Soon to Leave For Scotland

ROMSEY, England, Nov. 22.—(BUP)—Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip will leave their honeymoon retreat on Broadlands estate after one week and go to Scotland, it was reported today.

They originally were expected to spend two weeks here and two weeks at Birkhall, near the royal castle at Balmoral, Scotland. But they now plan to spend three weeks at Birkhall.

The little town of Romsey buzzed with approving talk about the speedy jeep ride Elizabeth and Philip took yesterday across the 6,000 acres estate and up a busy highway.

Neither the policemen guarding the gates of the estate nor the townspeople expected to see their future queen and her new husband in such an unroyal vehicle. As a matter of fact, few of the townspeople did see them, but the news spread fast and it delighted them.

While Elizabeth and Philip were strolling about yesterday, they came upon the jeep. It was one that Philip's uncle, Earl Mountbatten, who owns Broadlands, acquired during his military career.

Philip was reported to have said to his bride: "I've never driven a jeep. Come on, let's go for a ride."

cheaper grades of meat—canners and cutters—in Canada for shipment overseas under the Marshall European relief fund and paid for with U.S. dollars. This project would be administered under the federal meat board to equate purchasing of supplies among all western growers.

For the moment, it appears there is no possibility of lifting the Canadian embargo on shipment of live cattle to the United States—consumer pressure on the cabinet is said to be so great due to fear of a resulting boost in the retail price of meat that the beef shipment embargo against the U.S. is likely to stand for some time yet.

THE CURRENT gap between feed prices and livestock prices which the livestock growers claim is putting them out of business is due to these factors:

First—Removal of the coarse grain subsidies and ceilings.

Second—The low prices of bacon, pork and beef under the British contracts which, it is held, are the real compelling factors in holding livestock prices down in Canada.

Third—The embargo on beef cattle shipments to the United States.

A fourth alleged factor that the packing house strike caused a back-log of livestock slaughtering is reported to have been strongly combatted in the cabinet sessions by Hon. J. G. Gardiner who produced statistics to prove that during the strike, slaughterings of livestock for domestic consumption were equal to total slaughterings at any time during the year.

ALL THE ABOVE factors, whatever weight may be given to each, the livestock growers complain, caused a discrepancy between the hog-barley ratio which was workable at a ratio of a point or so above 17 to rise to 19 point 4 or by almost two and a half points. To put this in less technical terms, it meant the livestock growers would have to buy about two and a half more bushels of barley to grow 100 pounds of pork than they had to before removal of the subsidies and ceilings. It is claimed that under the current still rising feed prices, the hog raisers would have to feed almost fifteen more bushels of barley per 100 pounds of pork which simply puts the hog raiser out of business.

THIS IS THE REPLY reputedly given to certain cabinet ministers protesting against any raise in the price of pork to the consumers they represent in large numbers—that it is better for the consumers to pay more now than eight months later to get no meat at all.

The same argument in a lesser degree applies to the embargo against beef cattle shipments to the United States; but so far it has not been effective.

However, while the western livestock negotiators are necessarily unable to report the result of their conference with the cabinet, they obviously emerged from the talks with a more hopeful outlook. They were certain that the government is going to take some actions as outlined above which will help to restore the balance in the hog-barley ratio.

IT SEEMS QUITE apparent that members of the cabinet feel assured that at least the first year emergency phase of the so-called Marshall plan is going to be implemented by the U.S. Congress in considerable measure. In other words, a large part of the European emergency supplies for this winter will be bought with U.S. dollars in Canada. The livestock growers expect to get a fair share of the business.

U.S. Sells Goods To Soviet Russia

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—President Truman said yesterday he sess no reason to stop the sale of heavy machinery and farm equipment to Russia at this time.

The Russians have purchased $113,700,000 in American goods during the first nine months of this year. Included were several millions dollars worth of industrial machinery.

had requested that he might be provided with means of communicating with the Canadian officials and that Mr. R. A. J. Phillips, the third secretary of the Embassy, be given permission to visit them in person."

The statement said that Weld and Clabon were returning in Capt. Clabon's car from an authorized visit to Warsaw. They set out from Warsaw on Monday, Nov. 10 with the intention of returning to Berlin via Danzig and of arriving in Berlin on Wednesday, Nov. 12.

"On Nov. 13, the Soviet ministry of foreign affairs informed the Canadian Embassy in Moscow that that Mr. Weid and Capt. Clabon had been detained on Nov. 12 south west of Kaliningrad for the purpose of ascertaining all the circumstances connected with their presence on Soviet administered territory."

Mrs. A. W. Clabon, wife of one of the two Canadians held by Soviet authorities in the Kaliningrad border area on charges of illegal entry into Russian territory, is living here.

The Canadian government has made representations for the release of Capt. Clabon and his companion — identified as J. D. M. Weld of the Canadian Military Mission in Berlin—from Russian custody. Capt. Clabon was in Vancouver as an army permanent force officer of long experience on the Canadian west coast.

Shortly after the outbreak of the Second World War, he was appointed officer commanding No. 11 detachment, corps of military staff clerks, with headquarters at Esquimalt, B.C.

Later he left the CMSC on transfer to the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps and was trained at the RCASC centre, Red Deer.

Duty at Canadian Army headquarters, Ottawa, was followed by a posting to the 1st Canadian Corps in Italy, with which he later moved to Northwest Europe in March, 1945.

After the war he was transferred from the Canadian Forces in the Netherlands to the Canadian Military Mission in Berlin.

sued here Friday by Mr. Justice S. J. Shepherd in Supreme court.

After giving gro[illegible] for the decision, Mr. Justice Shepherd wrote: "I therefore hold that the notices of termination are invalid and ineffectual and do not terminate the agreements in question in these actions."

After receiving the notices of termination, court action was started by the Domestic Coal Operators' Association of Western Canada and Western Canada Bituminous Coal Operators' Association.

The operators were successful in their action to have the notices of termination declared null and void and were awarded costs of the action which was heard recently in supreme court.

Records filed with the court showed that on Oct. 1, 1946, the UMWA entered into separate agreements with the two operators' organizations. The agreements were to continue from Oct. 1, to March 31, 1948 and a clause in the agreement said "no notice of termination shall be given or accepted by either party during the life of this agreement."

On Aug. 29, 1947. The operators started two separate actions in supreme court to test the validity of the notice. That notice was then withdrawn and a second notice was issued on Oct. 1 to terminate the agreement on Dec. 3, 1947. The operators then challenged this notice and claimed that the contract should continue until March 31, 1948 as originally agreed.

CALGARY, Nov. 22.— (CP) — Robert Livett, president of district 18, United Mine Workers of America, said last night the miners will appeal the judgment issued by Mr. Justice S. J. Shepherd in supreme court here yesterday declaring invalid the miners' notice to terminate a wage agreement with western mine operators Dec. 3. Counsel for the miners said the appeal would be filed "early next week."

premiership when he was designated to try to form a new government. But he said he would give Auriol a "yes" or "no" answer before the national assembly meets.

If the answer is "yes" Schuman said, he will go before the assembly for a vote of confidence. Blum failed by nine votes last night to get a vote of confidence, probably because he denounced the de Gaulle movement.

TO SEE HOW MANY votes he could count on, Schuman began an immediate series of conferences with political leaders. It was unofficially reported that he would have the support of the Socialists, the Popular Republicans, the Radicals, some Independents and part of a Rightist party, giving him about 350 votes, more than enough for approval.

Before he offered the premiership to Schuman, Auriol tried to get two other men to accept it. Both refused for "reasons of health." They were Andre Marie, radical Socialist minister of justice in the resigned cabinet, and Yvon Delbos, also a radical and former minister of state.

COMMUNIST-LED strikes, which had idled at least 750,000 men in the most vital industries, began to spread rapidly in Paris. Fourteen thousand school teachers went out yesterday. The Gare de Lyon, which handles Marseilles-bound train traffic, was closed today.

and headed east. Impact of the heavy engine completely demolished the truck.

The train engineer said he was driving toward Edmonton at a speed of between 35 to 40 miles per hour when the impact occurred. It is believed that Wilson was driving the truck at the time of the accident.

Both of the deceased were working with the Imperial Pipeline Company at the Leduc field and the storage tanks at Nisku. They were employed by a Calgary firm.

The bodies were removed to Hainstock and Son funeral parlor. It is believed that Smale's body will be taken to Calgary where he was formerly a resident.

Smale is survived by his wife and four brothers. George at Millarville, Albert at Hartell, Edgar at Eskville and Ewart of Calgary. Both parents are dead.

DISTRICT NEWS IN BRIEF

Favor Amalgamation Lloyd Hospital Areas

LLOYDMINISTER, Nov. 22. — Final returns from the referendum on the amalgamation of the two hospital districts of the Lloydminister United Municipal hospital, one of which is in the province of Saskatchewan, the other in Alberta, give a majority in favor of the amalgamation.

THE ALBERTA vote was 857 for and 383 against, while the Saskatchewan voters decided on amalgamation by the vote of 646 for and 157 against.

The Lloydminister hospital board will now be requesting the two provincial governments to pass the necessary orders-in-council to authorize and implement the amalgamation of the two districts, in two provinces into one district. This has been accomplished before in the case of the Lloydminister school district, which used to be two districts one in each province, and also in the amalgamation of the former town of Lloydminister in Saskatchewan and the village of Lloydminister in Alberta.

This amalgamation of the hospital districts is the first step necessary for the erection of a 40 bed addition to the local building, which is reported too small for the ever growing town and community it is called upon to serve.

Total value of building permits issued since Jan. 1, 1947 is $366,500, including $245,300 for 68 private homes, $56,000 for 17 commercial buildings and $37,160 for repair work.

In addition to this, the $250,000 St. Mary's hospital; a swimming pool valued at $300,000; a junior school building costing $15,000 and the new exhibition grounds, which cost $48,000, were erected.

There was a total of 12 parcels of commercial town properties sold and 47 parcels of land for residential buildings sold already this year.

Favor North Highway Route

McBRIDE, B.C., Nov. 22. — The McBride District Board of Trade is continuing to support the Trans-Canada Highway System Association (Yellowhead Route) to have the proposed trans-Canada highway routed through Northern Alberta and Yellowhead.

The board contends that this route would not create a serious engineering problem as the road to Vancouver already has a good bed and there is only approximately a 90-mile link between McBride and Prince George that has to be completed to make direct connection with Prince Rupert.

In addition to this, the board points out, two-thirds of the population of Alberta would be along the route as is the case in Saskatchewan and Manitoba. "There is, as well as these advantages," the board states, "the Pacific ports of Vancouver and Prince Rupert; the military aspect of Alaska, and a rich farming district."

The Blue River highway from McBride to Vancouver has been completed, and is now open for traffic. The McBride district Board of Trade supported the opening of the Blue River highway and assisted to a certain extent with the expense.

Second Winter For Patrol Boat

VICTORIA, Nov. 22.—(CP)—The St. Roche, tiny Royal Canadian Mounted Police patrol ship, will spend still another winter weathered in at Herschel Island off the mouth of the Mackenzie river on Canada's northernmost coastline but Sub-Inspector Henry A. Larsen, her Arctic-toughened skipper, will be home for Christmas.

Veteran of many winter-long vigils waiting for the ice to relax its grip on the 80-foot hull of the sturdy, Vancouver-built ship, Capt Larsen is making the trip the hard way—by dog team 120 miles to Aklavik, NWT., then by ski-equipped plane to Edmonton. He left here last June.

News of his homecoming was received here yesterday by Mrs Larsen.

The final leg of the journey to Victoria will be by rail and boat.

King May Leave Next Wednesday

LONDON, Nov. 22. — (CP) — Prime Minister Mackenzie King yesterday continued his busy round of engagements and it was indicated that he will leave for Canada next Wednesday with an understanding of the British view point on a wide range of subjects.

There has been nothing of the Commonwealth conference type of meeting among United Kingdom officials and overseas representatives in London for the Royal wedding Thursday. But at receptions, hotel-rooms conversations and even while waiting for the just-concluded wedding ceremonies, there have been opportunities for informal talks.

Asked about the conversations here, the Canadian prime minister said:

"They have been entirely informal and covered a wide range of subjects. They have been most valuable because they were informal."

Canada's Contribution

Canada's Ambassador, Hume Wrong, told a press conference at Washington that the Dominion has a "Marshall plan" of its own, which has been in operation since the fighting stopped and is still being carried on. Canada, he said, has financed recovery in Europe to the amount of $2,000,000,000 worth of supplies sold there on credit.

Canada's population being only one-twelfth that of the United States, this is equivalent to $24,000,000,000 of credit advances from the latter country. The proportion is still more in our favor if the immensely greater industrial and farm production of the United States is taken into account. This factor considered, the $2,000,000,000 worth of supplies which Canada has staked on the recovery effort represents a much heavier strain on our people than twelve times that amount would be upon our neighbors.

Mr. Wrong did not give out these facts boastfully, or on his own motion. He cited them in response to questions as to what Canada will or may do to supplement the Marshall plan. He further pointed out that Canada was free to take similar action to that taken at Washington to cut down credit to Britain and other "sterling" countries, but has not done this.

Canadians will also do well to keep these facts in mind. Not for the purpose of drawing comparisons with what the United States has done or will do, but in order to correct any suggestions that Canada has been standing aloof while Europe suffered.

Action Had to be Summary

Fault is being found in some quarters because the U.S.-dollar saving program was sprung on the public without notice. It is suggested that Mr. Abbott should have sounded warnings last summer that Canadians were buying more in the United States than they were selling there, and should have told them that unless they cut down their purchases voluntarily steps would be taken to check the outflow of American money from the Dominion.

Anyone who knows human nature can tell what would have happened if such warning and threats had been given out. They would have been taken as advance notices that anyone who wanted to buy United States goods had better buy quickly. The rush of orders to U.S. manufacturers and distributers would have speeded up at once, and the stream of U.S. dollars flowing south across the border would have swollen still faster. Under pressure to "buy while you can" imports would have gone up sharply—and by this time there wouldn't be enough dollar reserves left to signify.

Canadians did not buy so largely in the United States because they wanted to dissipate the dollar reserves. They bought there because they could not buy anywhere else. Canada's industrial system was not stepping up production in any adequate degree. Our customers overseas had little to send us. Scarcity was the order of the day. From household conveniences to machinery, there was only one direction in which to look for many needed and long-wanted supplies. Naturally Canadian orders went to the United States for such of these—not otherwise obtainable — things as could be bought there.

To have told the buyers last summer that they should stop buying these scarce commodities in the United States would have been to tell them that they should stop buying— and they were tired doing without things they wanted and had the money to pay for. To have threatened them with embargoes to come would only have been to tell them that they had better buy while buying was possible, that they had better even anticipate future requirements and get the goods while the getting was possible.

If any method of checking imports was to be successful, the ban had to be dropped without notice—without even advance hints.

What Does it Mean

Having formally, and unanimously, condemned war-propaganda, the General Assembly of the United Nations should next proceed to explain what the resolution means. What exactly is war-propaganda, and to what did the delegates refer when they talked about war-mongering?

This is important, because unless these terms are defined there cannot be anything resembling uniformity in carrying out the spirit of the blanket resolution. Left to themselves, the government of one country will frown upon what is permitted in another country. But unless there is fair consistency as between what is allowable in one country and another, the motion of censure will accomplish little or nothing.

There is now no such thing as open advocacy of war, anywhere in the world, saving perhaps in Palestine and India. It cannot therefore have been that the delegates sought only to discourage direct urging of war. What they must have been thinking about was the use of language or arguments which could incite a belligerent spirit.

But does the General Asembly mean even this, without reservations? It is unthinkable that the delegates wanted to go that far. For while there are countries which pursue policies only construable as aggressive, it would be neither sensible nor effective to enjoin people in all other countries to maintain an attitude of bucolic indifference. They would not do that, and the General Assembly would not want them to.

Unless the Assembly translates the general language of its resolution into specific terms, saying what is to be regarded everywhere as war-propaganda and war-mongering, there is little prospect that its admonition will get much attention anywhere, and a certainty that in some countries it will be treated as a formula which delegates approved for tactical reasons and with their tongues in their cheeks.

Just Passing the Time

John Masefield, the English poet laureate, whose splendid poem on the marriage of the Princess Elizabeth has lately appeared in the press, once wrote a series of verses on the wastefulness of those lives which are devoted to merely "passing the time."

It is no new topic. John Wesley and many others have fulminated upon the swiftness of human life and upon the emptiness of those lives that are not filled with good works. Wesley said, "I shall pass through this way but once; any good I can do, or any kindness that I can show, let me not defer it or neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again."

That is a thought to be taken to the hearts, not only of those who follow John Wesley, but of all Christian people. For one of the greatest corroding elements in the Church today is the prevalence of that passivity of which both Masefield and Wesley complain.

The passive Christian is a negative Christian. It is true that he abstains from doing evil. But he also abstains from doing good.

He usually has a fine respect for the Ten Commandments and observes their prohibitions rigidly. But if he does not take life, neither does he give it.

He doubtless obeys the injunctions of Christ to love God and his neighbor. But his idea of loving his neighbor is not to help his neighbor but to refrain from doing his neighbor harm.

Passive Christianity doubtless has its value. But the world so urgently needs active Christianity—that kind of well-doing which involves positive action—that it seems a great pity more Christians are not motivated by it.

It seems a great misfortune that so many are content, in their religious life with "just passing the time."

The Future of Germany — III

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

What did we desire, in the war, to accomplish through the liberation of Europe?

We wanted to save Europe from subjection to an aggressive power hostile to America and menacing to American security.

We avoided, however, recognition that Hitler's sensational victories had revealed the appalling weakness of the rest of Europe; Europe's fatal divisions, from the viewpoint of defence; Europe's economic weakness, induced by atomization. Hitler's urge to unify Europe had a sound base, shattered by the fact that he sought its domination and subjection to a master-state for whom the others should work in varying degrees of servitude.

GERMAN DEFEAT, however, was bound to revise the whole power picture. The collapse of the German armies in Stalingrad meant the emergence of a new premier power on the least defensible frontiers of Europe. Would this power, after the war, retreat once its frontiers were rectified and secured? Or would it use advanced positions from which to conquer Europe, by fifth columns backed by armed power?

American policy and opinion heartily accepted — without an atom of credible evidence — that Russian demands (annexation of the Baltic states, rectification of Polish frontiers, etc.) all were solely with a view to enhancing Russian security — in short, to permit Russia to withdraw. Our press and, particularly, the bulletins of the authoritative foreign policy association, assured us that the Comintern was dead; and that Russia which "already possesses one-sixth of the globe" and "needs neither resources nor manpower," having thrown out the invaders, secured her frontiers, and disarmed Germany, would go back to "building socialism in a single country."

How can anybody be sure of such things? Even if temporarily true what guarantee could there be that changes in the Russian government might not reverse all this? When before has foreign policy been based on simple trust? Do we even make financial contracts with our best friends without having a lawyer see that every clause is crystal clear, and that security is posted?

Russia — in Lord Acton's words, "the superb autocracy that looms over Europe and half of Asia" — would be, after the war, in a position from which, unless balanced by other measures, she could dominate Europe. Atomized Europe, with Germany broken and disarmed, could not defend herself against Russia. A divided Europe would be an open invitation to further aggrandizement from only one conceivable source: the Soviet Union.

Suppose the borders of the Soviet Union reached to our frontier with Canada; that New York state, Pennsylvania, and Michigan were disarmed, and deindustrialized; that the middle-western grain basin and the Texas oil fields were in Soviet hands; that the rest of the country was divided into states with no common defence system and no common policy; and that in each of them were powerful pro-Russian parties — would we think this a condition conducive to optimism?

That is Europe today. Europe cannot defend herself, but depends for defence upon the United States — an oceanic country far away. Can that condition last.

TO THE DEFENCE potential of the Soviets have been added 120,000,000 Europeans. Every bit of European oil, one of the two great coal basins, and Europe's granary are under Soviet control. Now the real issue this month in London is: Where will Germany go? Will she be reintegrated into a reorganized Europe, or pushed toward integration with Stalin's new order? Shall Germany be unified — under the Soviet bait of join the new order and win national unity? Shall Germany be partitioned — with the partitioned western parts hanging in the air?

If the question is put that way, and the Germans offered a choice, I am convinced they will choose the Soviet Union.

If offered the choice of joining — even as separate states, and even under strict restrictions — a European commonwealth, I am convinced they would choose that. But since something always is better than nothing and the Soviets offer a comprehensible system, the inexorable pull will be toward the east, until the west offers more than vacuum, which it must do within the near future.

The Dollar Shortage

By MAX FREEDMAN

Ottawa: As far as restrictions are concerned, the government plans to curb the dollar shortage in three ways. Some goods are to be shut out of Canada completely while this emergency legislation lasts. Other goods from the U.S. or the dollar area have been placed on a quota system. The third method calls for the control of imports of capital goods.

On capital goods, including machinery and parts, there will be neither prohibition nor quotas. Instead, various groups of capital goods will have their imports controlled or restricted. This part of the general program, to be worked out by Mr. Howe, is still incomplete. Any estimate of the savings on American dollars must be tentative and conjectural, but on the basis of last year's figures when we spent approximately $500,000,000 in the U.S. on capital goods, it may be possible to save as much as $200,000,000 by means of these controls.

BUT THAT IS ONLY one phase of the plan. Mr. Howe will periodically review with Canadian industry its expenditures on imported machinery, equipment and materials. According to Mr. Abbott, Mr. Howe will try to see "to what extent such drains on our dollar resources may be eliminated, reduced or postponed."

This principle contains serious dangers. It may easily be abused. Mr. Howe is given virtual control over large sections of Canadian industry.

One broad principle he is expected to apply is this: Canadian firms likely to increase their exports to the U.S. will have much less trouble in obtaining essential imports from the U.S. than other companies who are not in this position. Further, and this is the most alarming point, Mr. Howe has the power under the new order-in-council dealing with emergency restrictions to tamper with our trade very drastically.

Under appendix 9 of P. C. 4678 he can control any metals or manufacturers thereof not included in the prohibition list or quota list and not including machinery or equipment for use in the agricultural and fishing industries. He also has control over motion picture films.

NOW, THIS IS the point. If Mr. Howe is not satisfied with the way things are going, either in Canada or the U.S. he may recommend that any item under his control be transferred to the prohibition list or quota system, thus intensifying restrictions and encouraging industries in Canada that might clamor for protection and state assistance.

There is considerable uneasiness here in this regard because of the extraordinary use now being made of the excise tax to discourage imports and consumption. There is no doubt that this tax used in this way constitutes a deliberate and unprecedented invasion of the consumer habits of the Canadian people. The government defends this tax by invoking the claims of necessity.

What is being done under the excise tax? A tax of 25 per cent will be applied on many goods imported into or manufactured or produced in Canada. The list is extensive. Some representative items are kettles, toasters, waffle irons, juice extractors, coffee makers, toasters of all kinds, curling tongs, permanent wave machines, razors, vacuum cleaners, floor wax and polishers, electric or gas refrigerators, stoves, water heaters, oil burners, sporting goods and equipment, motor cycles, outboard motors, musical instruments of all kinds, brushes, combs, mirrors, and many other items.

Where the excise tax already stands at 10 per cent it is raised to 25 per cent.

AUTOMOBILES are particularly affected by this tax. The present 10 per cent tax is increased to 25 per cent on the manufactured price of $1,200 or less. Such a car under the 10 per cent tax had a manufactured price of $1,320. Now it will cost $1,500.

A car costing more than $1,200 but not more than $2,000 will be charged 25 per cent on $1,200 plus 50 per cent on the amount in excess of $1,200. A car costing more than $2,000 will pay 25 per cent tax on the first $1,200, plus 50 per cent tax on the next $800, plus 75 per cent tax on the amount in excess of $2,000.

It should be emphasized that all these taxes apply to any car that may be produced in Canada as well as on imported cars. In each case the price given is the manufactured, not retail price. With reference to automobiles particularly, though the reasoning applies generally to all items, the government defends the imposition of this onerous excise tax by the following three arguments, while conceding the unparalleled interference it entails in individual freedom to buy what one wishes.

1. It helps reduce our expenditure on U.S. dollars by reducing our purchases of component parts.
2. It reduces consumption in Canada.
3. It diminishes the danger of building up tariff protected companies as they will have to sell their product at a very high price while demand is being deliberately restricted.

THE BASIC argument, however, is this: and it applies to all controls. We now have export and import trade on a world scale roughly in balance. We have no exportable surplus, nor any reservoir of unemployed manpower to increase our productive capacity. Yet we have been selling on credit to Europe. We have done so only by dipping into our U.S. dollar reserves. The drain on our reserves and the amount of our credits are roughly equal. One explains the other. But our U.S. dollar supply is gone, or is near the point of vanishing.

So we have to make this hard choice. Either to curtail our credits to Europe or to cut down on our own consumption and buying habits in Canada. This is roughly the defence of his policy that Mr. Abbott will make in parliament. The government is confident it will be endorsed.

Smiles

The Arab met an American tourist clad only in bathing trunks, plodding through the Sahara.

"Where are you going, effendi?" asked the Arab.

"For a swim," the American answered.

"A swim!" echoed the Arab in astonishment. "But the ocean is a thousand miles from here."

"A thousand miles!" gasped the American tourist. "Gee, this is sure some beach!"

A traveller calling at a village inn was delighted to see packets of potato chips on sale. He was eventually served with a packet by the hard-of-hearing landlord, but on opening it he found the little bag of salt was missing.

Attracting the landlord's attention, he tried to explain that the salt was missing, and the crisps were no good without it. After three attempts, he spread the crisps on the counter, and once again said: "Look, gov., there's no salt." "Crikey!" grinned the landlord. "Thought you said you were one short"

Meals For Millions

By ELMORE PHILPOTT

Is there, in the whole wide world, a more useful organization than the Friends, more commonly called Quakers?

The Quakers have just been awarded the 1947 Nobel Peace Prize. No more deeply deserved award has ever been made.

The Quakers are anti-war—that is, are sincere Christian pacifists. But they are not "passivists." They are about the world's noblest activists. Wherever you find war, or human distress you will find the Quakers — never fighting themselves, but always trying to heal the hurts caused by and to those who do the fighting.

THERE IS A MAN down in Los Angeles who has successfully spark-plugged an emergency feeding project which may save legions of lives. He is Clifford Clinton, who was more or less born into the business, as his parents were Salvation Army folks.

In the depression Clinton cut through red tape and handed out tens of thousands of meals—free. Naturally that meant cost had to be cut to the bone.

After some army service, Clinton began to concentrate on mass feeding. What were the rock-bottom essentials for an all-purpose emergency food, which would at least keep a human being alive, in reasonable health?

Dr. Henry Borsook, of the California Institute of Technology, took over the problem. He has developed an emergency food called M.P.F.—which stands for Multi-Purpose Food. It is made on a soya basis, with the oil expressed down to 6%, when it is called "Grit." To this they add a mix of vitamins and flavors.

It comes dry and you mix it with water—three parts water to one part M.P.F. The cost per meal per person is three cents.

The food is being distributed by a non-profit organization called Meals for Millions Foundation, 648 South Broadway, Los Angeles.

A CANADIAN business man, with no personal axe to grind, got extremely enthusiastic about this food while visiting Los Angeles. He has sent me a little packet of the stuff. When cooked, it tastes like a mixture of Grape Nuts and French-Canadian pea soup. I imagine if some hungry family in Europe or Asia could get hold of some bit of animal bone, they make a really fine meal of the stuff. But, even as it is, it makes a filling meal.

The food scientists claim that it has in it all the ingredients for good health—except vitamin C—which they can't put in, as it won't survive cooking.

"Meals for Millions" naturally has a great pile of letters from benefitted people and organizations overseas. I read over some from Holland, Germany and Japan. Ester B. Rhoads of the Licensed Agencies for Relief in Asia, writes from Tokyo:

"M.P.F. is well liked. Most frequent use is in stew or soup . . . a few institutions have made it into a baked loaf, or little cakes like hamburgers."

I TRIED IT OUT—and the only kick I have is that it is too appetizing.

That is, I was just worked up for a regular Canadian meal when I had eaten up the one meal ration.

But this is no smiling matter. It is a fine and even vital service to the human race to develop this food which will at least help keep people alive till the acute world food shortage is over.

There is nothing new in the idea of such food. The Indians were experts in making pemmican—which was much the same thing.

Bernarr Macfadden—who is nobody's fool when it comes to the human body—always argued that he could maintain a healthy human being at 5 cents per meal. So he could, of course, if the human being had to, or were willing to, live (as the noted lecturer Scott Nearing does) on actual whole wheat grains—with nothing added and nothing taken away.

But this M.P.F. is a good mass produced food for mass distribution.

CANNOT RENT

Editor, Bulletin—At a time like this when housing shortage is so acute, couldn't a city by-law be waived?

I have a lovely basement suite to rent consisting of a living-room, two bed-rooms, kitchenette and bath in a modern bungalow, but the Zoning Board of Appeal refuses to grant me permission to rent it as a suite, probably due to a neghbor protesting loudly that he bought his home in a one-family dwelling zone. This neighbor being very smug with his family in his lovely home, does not seem to care if any one else gets a suitable place to live in.

It seems illogical to have so many people go without adequate accomodation when suites like this are available.

I'm a soldier's widow, my husband was killed overseas. I have no family and being alone would like to share this eight-room bungalow, by renting the basement suite, as I do not need or want all that space. Besides needing the income I would appreciate the companionship. I might add that it was for the reasons just mentioned that I bought this home which had a basement suite in it already. My niece shared it with two of her girl-friends, thus providing accomodation for three people.

In this one-family-dwelling zone, apparently, one is allowed four roomers or boarders (incidentally I do not understand this by-law—is a rooming house, or boarding house better than two desirable tenants in one home?) but again, the above mentioned neighbor objects to that. In short it seems that I must live alone. Is this the freedom that my husband gave his life for? What should one do? Change neighborhood?

GREATLY PUZZLED.

POOR OWNER

Editor, Bulletin—How can anyone object to the controls on rent being lifted when the poor property owner must pay the plasterer, painter, plumber, electrician, etc., whose prices have soared in the past few years? If controls were on all trades it would work out, but the 10 per cent some obtained doesn't cover the increase in coal, water rates, electrical rates and property taxes, etc.

I am definitely in favor of a control if it applies to all commodities but to leave it only on rents, is putting lots of wrinkles in the poor property owner's forehead. Let's have fair play.

NOT UNION'S FAULT

Editor, Bulletin—I have received a clipping from your "Letters to the Editor" column of October 18th, entitled "Unions Are Selfish" and signed "Non-Union." The statements made in the letter are so far removed from the fact that I feel compelled to reply.

First of all, "Non-Union" attempts to place the blame for high meat prices upon the packinghouse workers' union. Meat, he says, costs three times as much now as it did before the war. This is hardly correct, acording to government figures. It is slightly less than double the pre-war price.

Now, how much of this is due to workers' wages? Total labor costs in the large packing plants are slightly over one cent per pound, according to company figures. Wages and salaries took two tenths of a cent more of the consumer's dollar in 1946 than in 1939. (See Canada Packers' 12th Annual Report, page 3—Wages and Salaries 8.9 cents of sales dollar and 20th Annual Report, page 5 — Wages and Salaries 9.1 cents of sales dollar.) In the same period the profits before taxes for Canada Packers increased from $1,512,565 to $3,758,852, an increase of 142 per cent. (See Canada Packers' 12th and 20th Annual Reports.)

So, if "Non-Union" is really a working man and his family is suffering, I would strongly advise him to get a union and attempt, as others are doing, to keep up with increasing prices.

EXETER CATHEDRAL

Editor, Bulletin—This may catch the eye of one of the many thousands of the personnel of the Canadian Army who obtained hospitality through the Canadian Hospitality Bureau in Exeter. (As purely a personal note, my wife was in charge of that bureau for some time during the war under the Knights of Columbus.)

Many of them will have visited Exeter Cathedral, and should they or others wish to subscribe towards its restoration as the result of enemy bombing on Exeter in April and May, 1942, when the cathedral was grievously damaged, I shall be most grateful for any gifts, small or large, on behalf of the Dean and chapter.

The work of restoration is proceeding. The estimated cost is £75,000, towards which £40,000 has been received or promised, leaving a large gap of £35,000 still to be found.

The cathedral dates from the year 932, the first Bishop, Leofric, being enthroned in 1050 by Edward the Confessor. The Norman portion was consecrated in 1153 and the Gothic part as it stands today finished in 1369. Thus this ancient and dignified edifice has now reached its 1,015th year of existence.

Any donations will be acknowledged by me—the organizing secretary— Exeter Cathedral.

"A Wonderful Daze"

Betty White Tours Famed London Sites

By Betty White

(Copyright, 1947, by The Winnipeg Free Press and The Edmonton Bulletin)

LONDON, Nov. 22. — To all the gang:—

The Royal Wedding is over but I am finding that there are still lots of exciting things to see and do in London.

LAST NIGHT I WENT to see Carmen at Palace Gardens. The orchestra and chorus were without fault as far as I was concerned but Carmen herself was a little too corpulent to properly act the role. Dancers of the Sadlers Wells Ballet performed some beautiful Spanish dances in the beginning of the last act.

Yesterday when I was watching the wedding procession the woman sitting next to me asked if I were an American. Over here almost everyone mistakes Canadians for Americans. It seems that she had a very close friend in Winnipeg, Mrs. J. Lindsey.

Next week she is taking me to the famous Norman Hartnell salon, where I'll be able to see sketches of Princess Elizabeth's wedding dress.

I must tell you several amusing things I have noticed here. First of all the elevator or rather the "lift" at the Hotel Russel is an ancient affair run by water power. The operator is a Maltese girl who certainly is adept in coaxing it to rise and keeping it from descending like a comet. The entire hotel staff seems to consider that their duty is to carefully scrutinize my visitors and take personal interest in everything I do.

THE HOTEL has a very lovely winding marble staircase and is really very nice inside. Miss Sybil Booth who used to teach at Sparling and Luxton schools came to visit me last night. She is teaching this year in a secondary school in Birmingham. It was such a good feeling to meet a friend from home.

TODAY WHEN CLAIRE and I went out for lunch I asked the waiter for a soft drink. He looked at me a rather amazing expression on his face and asked if I meant mineral. Seems that most drinks over here from fruit juice to a cordial are called minerals. This morning I made a BBC broadcast with Peter Donne. Afterwards I was taken up to the BBC offices and introduced to Mathew Halton.

He is just as friendly as his voice sounds over the radio. He told me that just last Friday he attended a stag party given by the Thursday Club for Philip Mountbatten. I spent half an hour in St. Paul's Cathedral after the broadcast. Although the exterior is dirty and somewhat damaged by bombs the magnificence and splendor of the interior defies description. Downstairs the crypt holds the tombs of such painters as Sir Joshua Reynolds and Vandyke.

ONE CORNER CONTAINS a memorial plaque dedicated to Florence Nightingale. Another banked with Armistice Day poppies was to the memory of an American flyer who was killed in the Battle of Britain. The most astonishing sight was the iron carriage especially made to carry Wellington's body through the Cathedral. The coach is covered with spears and symbols of the great victories he won and was completed in a record time of eighteen days. Miss B. A. Smith of Daniel McIntyre will be pleased to know that I remembered enough Latin to translate the inscription on the Samuel Johnson memorial.

This afternoon I am going shopping and this evening Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Bishop are taking me to the theatre to see a new play. I'm in a wonderful daze and I know that when I get home I'll hardly be able to believe I was here. Love to all, Betty.

Gallery Cheers Family Allowances

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Nov. 22. —(CP)—Cheers came from the gallery yesterday as Joseph Smallwood, pro-confederationist member of the national convention discussing Newfoundland's political future, outlined family allowance benefits which would accrue to the old colony if it entered confederation.

Chairman John McEvoy had a busy time calling order as Smallwood engaged in various arguments with other members, but at other times he was interrupted when the gallery started cheering.

Prime Minister At Legal Lunch

LONDON, Nov. 22.—(CP)—Canada's Prime Minister Mackenzie King, as an honorary member of the Bench, lunched yesterday with Gray's Inn lawyers. He drove to the function with Viscount Greenwood, his comrade in a student's strike when both were at the University of Toronto in the 1890's.

Lord Greenwood, born Hamar Greenwood in Whitby, Ont., in 1870, came to England before the First Great War and has long been promininent in Britain's public affairs.

Santa Meets His Edmonton Friends and Has Good Time

Santa Claus who will be at the C. Woodward's Ltd. between now and Christmas greeted Edmonton youngsters in the Capitol Theatre Saturday morning with his accustomed jollity and friendliness. Shown above are a group of children who thronged to the stage to have their picture taken with the jolly old gentleman. Kiddies Jam Theatre for Woodward's Event

3,000 See Santa Claus Show

More than 3,000 excited jubilant kiddies jammed the Capitol theatre Saturday morning for the annual Santa Claus Show sponsored by the C. W. Woodward Ltd. which is a forerunner for the youngsters before visiting the store's Toyland.

THE KIDDIES were greeted by perfect winter weather for the gala occasion. Early this morning as they pushed and rushed onward to the theatre, soft snowflakes fell gently to the street and twinkled below the store lights.

As the youthful guests entered the theatre, Santa's aides and elves, along with the children of Mother Goose, presented them with glass trains and aeroplanes, which were filled with candies.

Dear old Mother Goose, who made her arrival on a Sunbeam, greeted the children from the stage. She was very excited about meeting all the youngsters once again and she herself could hardly wait for the sound of bells and the arrival of Santa and his reindeers.

Mother Goose told her eager young listeners that Santa's arrival was a little delayed because he had given his priority on air space to the Piper Cub pilots, Clifford Evans and George Truman. However, the gracious old lady presented encouraging and complete reports of his progress which she received by radio from the various stations along the route.

DURING THE SHORT, but seemingly endless period of waiting, the youngsters were royally entertained and obviously pleased by the appearance of Mother Goose and a number of cartoons featuring their favorite characters. Tom Cat and Terry Mouse dished up a heaping helping of hilarious antics in a cat-mouse combat in "Trap Trouble." Bugs Bunny provided a new slant on wierd baseball in "Baseball Bugs," and naturally everybody's little mischievous darling "Little Lulu" met with much approval for her part in "Bargain Counter Attack."

After this a faint tinkle of bells was heard, soon becoming louder and more clear. This tense moment was followed by that famous chuckle as Santa Claus appeared from the wings of the stage and was greeted by Mother Goose.

Santa Claus told all the boys and girls that all his reindeers were in fine condition, just rearing to go on an all-out effort to visit every good little boy and girl on Christmas Eve and leave them wonderful gifts.

ST. NICK then told his audience that he had a record in his toyshop at the North Pole. The jolly little fellow with the red cheeks advised the kiddies he had more and better toys this year than last year and again warned them to be good all year because he keeps an account of their behavior and if they fail to be good they will not receive presents.

Today, thousands of Edmonton kiddies have ceased to sing Santa Clause is coming to town, because he's already in town and they are full of enthusiasm and the spirit of Christmas.

Santa Clause led the children in a lively, pleasant rendition of "Jingle Bells."

Just before he departed from the theatre, he advised the youngsters that he would not be in Woodward's Toyland today because of the possibility of injuries in the huge crowds, but he would be in Toyland daily starting Monday.

Globe 3 Assured Of D3 Production

Globe-Leduc West Oil, first independent company to gain success in the Leduc sector of the Edmonton oil fields, was assured of two production zones on its No. 3 well late Friday afternoon in a drillstem test that revealed substantial showings of gas and oil in the D3 zone.

This latest completion, an offset to Globe-Leduc West No. 2, one of the best producers in the Leduc sector, was assured of production in the D2 zone some time ago and as an experiment, the company decided to search for the lower producing area.

THE WELL entered the D3 oil zone at 5,225 feet and in yesterday's test the pipe was filled with crude in just eight minutes. Casing will be set to the top of the D3 during the week-end and plug will be drilled out and the well put on production some time next week.

The success in the D3 of this well is another important development in the Leduc sector. As a result the company will likely initiate a policy that will probably become standard in the area. It is to drill two wells per every 40 acres, one for production in the D2 zone and the other to tap the lower zone.

Rig No. 3 will now be moved to another site about 100 yards away to a well to be known as Globe-Leduc West No. 8. This company, in addition to its first three successes, has four wells being drilled.

Imperial Leduc No. 20, which became an assured producer of the D2 zone Thursday, will follow the pattern set by Globe-Leduc West No. 3, and will go deeper in search of the D3. Coring is now proceeding below 4,934.

Imperial Oil today also announced a new drilling site to be known as Imperial Leduc No. 28. This will be a west offset well to its No. 11 well in the Leduc sector and just south of Home No. 1.

ANOTHER announcement today concerns the increased production in Alberta and Saskatchewan during the last eight months, due primarily to the discovery of the Leduc sector. In September of this year, oil production averaged 20,642 barrels per day, compared with an average per day of 18,159 for March—lowest level of production since the all-time high of 27,770 barrels daily recorded in 1942.

In 1942 Turner Valley was the only large producing field, but now Alberta has three large sectors, at Leduc, Lloydminster and Princess.

Other reports from Imperial wells are: Muskeg, at 7,599 feet; Battle Lake, at 7,277 feet; Legal, at 5,555 feet; Woodbend, lost bit at 4,458 feet; Leduc No. 17, swabbing out; Leduc No. 21, at 4,472 feet; Leduc No. 22, 4,076 feet; Leduc No. 23, 2,242 feet; Leduc No. 25, at 2,095 feet; Leduc No. 26, at 430 feet.

Farmers Hopping Mad Says Nollet

REGINA, Nov. 22.—(CP) Agriculture Minister Nollet said last night the entire program of the Saskatchewan department of agriculture to promote farm stability by encouraging livestock, dairy and poultry production had been defeated by the federal decontrol of coarse grains.

"I have never seen the farmers of this province so aroused and hopping mad as they are at the moment," he said in an address prepared for transcribed radio delivery over Saskatchewan stations. "Never in the history of Canadian agriculture has any administration by decree caused such uncertainty and financial loss to Saskatchewan farmers and shown so little concern over the future of balanced agricultural stability throughout the Dominion."

The thousands of dollars spent on shipments of feed in an attempt to overcome a serious fodder shortage in the province would be completely wasted, he said.

Plan Supper Monday

Knox Church to Mark Fortieth Anniversary

Tomorrow and on Monday, Knox United Church will celebrate the fortieth anniversary of the opening and dedication of the present edifice which took place on Dec. 15, 1907. The minister at that time was the Rev. David Flemming, an uncle of Knox's present minister, and the preacher was one of the noted church leaders of western Canada, the Rev. Dr. Duval of Winipeg.

KNOX DATES back to 1891 when the Rev. Dr. D. G. MacQueen held the first Presbyterian service in Strathcona. The place of worship was the CPR station. Later the services were held in various places, including the Massey-Harris warehouse in which hard planks served as pews.

The splendid building in which Knox now worships and carries on its work was the result of vision and liberality on the part of its people of 40 years ago. In the same spirit the Knox of today looks forward to increasing its facilities for the many new activities of a modern congregation in the erection of a new church hall.

The session has invited the new minister of Knox, the Rev. Gerald Flemming Rogers, to preach the anniversary sermons tomorrow. Jack Williams will direct special music for the day. On Monday evening a buffet supper and social evening will close the anniversary observances.

Baptism Service At Metropolitan

At the morning service at Metropolitan United Church Sunday, a number of children will be presented for Christian baptism.

In the evening the Rev. R. M. Thompson will preach his concluding sermon on "Protestant Principles," taking as his theme, "What Protestants Believe About the Church."

Dr. E. J. Thompson of St. Stephen's College will be guest speaker at a Young People's Union meeting after the evening church service.

TODAY'S MESSAGE

On Moderation

Moderation is an excellent virtue when it relates to eating, drinking, and other indulgences. As a general rule of life, however, it breeds mediocrity and futility. The world is too full of moderates. It needs more men and women who are willing to be extremists, not for their own selfish interests, of course, but for the good of mankind at large.

The man who prides himself on his moderation may actually be trying to hide a lack of courage or initiative. This is the case,, not only in the temporal but the spiritual life, in which, above all, men must beware of moderation as nothing less than religious tepidity.

Moderate men — the careful, cautious, overly-selfish middle-of-the-roaders — are never likely to open new economic worlds, to undertake the patient, laborious research that makes for scientific progress, to devise better machines to serve mankind. They lack the doggedness of an Edison, the devotion of a Curie, or the drive and courage of a Henry Ford. No moderates ever built an empire, ever composed a great opera, ever found a means to conquer disease. On the contrary, they have been among the first to discourage enterprise, to conjure up ghosts of doubt and discouragement when others saw great visions or set out to make the impossible come true.

In the spiritual life, especially, the greatest successes are the immoderates — the reckless spenders of themselves for causes far above petty self-interest. The world looked upon Christ as a failure, but his failure was actually a magnificent triumph. No one can hope to do more than imitate the splendid immoderation of the Saviour by which the world was remade, but it is in every man's power to follow Him to the limit of his capacity.

The ways are many: by high and noble living, by perfecting oneself in the art of prayer, by serving the needs of others, by helping to spread the message of Christ to those who grope for light and understanding. It is not necessary that all men do great things; men do not have equal capacities. All that is required is that we rise far enough above the pettiness of moderation to share in the glorious folly which was Christ's most precious secret.

GEMS FROM SWEDENBORG:

"The real worship of the Lord consists in performing uses, and uses consist, during man's life in the world, in every one's discharging aright his function in his respective station, thus in serving his country, society, and his neighbor from the heart, and in acting with sincerity in all his associations. Going to church, hearing sermons, and saying prayers are also necessary things, but without the above uses they avail nothing, for they are not of life, but teach what the quality of life should be."

—Arcana Coelestis

Bissell to Hold Special Service

Bissell Memorial Church at the corner of 96 street and 103A avenue holds an unusual place in the church life of the city. It is the central unit of All Peoples Mission of the United Church, and its doors are open always to the many varied groups that seek its services.

It works in closest co-operation with Boyle Street Community League, CGIT Council, Blind Institute, Indian Council, and other groups who use the Friendship Room, the gym, or the chapel.

Added to this is the fresh air camp which this year operated from June to September, and cared for a veritable host of needy folk. Then there are the Bissell goodwill industries which have operated now for 10 years and are still going strong.

Strictly Canadian

by Claire Wallace

Just as spring is the traditional time, as the poets say, for men to pursue the pretty little dear, the fall of the year regularly finds doughty hunters pursuing the four-legged deer. And husky he-men who scorn etiquette as sissy stuff, are due for a shock—etiquette is just as rigid, or even more so, on a hunting trip than it is in the drawing room.

Here are some rules, garnered from Canadian sportsmen, and they hold good wherever anyone is hunting in Canada. Nimrods won't need any coaching along this line, but novices, taking to the bush for the first time, may find a lot of useful tips here.

IF YOU GO to the hunting ground in someone else's car, the rule is that each person buys his share of gasoline and oil. Each hunter should take along enough ammunition, food and blankets, too, so that he does not have to borrow from the others.

It is safe etiquette, as well as good common sense, to make sure your gun is unloaded while travelling to your destination. And, if you are staying at a camp, your rifle should be unloaded before it is taken indoors.

While many will be hunting in the bush country, others will be hunting on or near farms. If you wish to hunt on a farmer's property, ask his permission, instead of barging ahead and taking over. If he has posted signs prohibiting hunting on his property, respect his wishes. When necessary to climb fences, be sure to do so near the posts to avoid damaging the wire. Farmers will apreciate it if hunters do not fire near cattle or other stock. Besides endangering the animals, the noise of gunfire makes them nervous.

Don't be too eager! Be sure you see your game before firing. It is better to miss a trophy than endanger something or somebody else.

IF YOUR PATH crosses that of another hunter in the bush, wave to signify you have seen him. May save his life or yours.

In walking through the bush, fit your pace to the oldest or weakest member of the party.

If it's a bird hunt, there's etiquette as far as the bird is concerned. This is not a law, but sportsmen consider it very poor etiquette to shoot a sitting bird. It should be in flight.

Who wants to do the dishwashing? No one! But the man who is stuck with it is the one who, in the day's shooting, misses a shot. If there isn't a camp cook, that duty is relegated in the same way. Otherwise, everyone does his share of the work.

On a hunting trip, when in doubt, find out. Confess your ignorance and ask an old timer for help. It's safer.

Questions—Etiquette—Answers

BRIDAL SHOWER A. A. C., of St. James, Man., writes: "I am invited to a shower for my forelady at work. When taking gift to shower, must I also take a gift to the wedding?"

ANSWER: If invited to a wedding, you always send a gift, even if you have attended one or more showers and presented gifts then, too. Fortunately, shower gifts needn't be expensive. Usually less than $1 is spent on one.

FLOWERS: A "Mere Man," Ottawa, queries: "Is it polite to ask a girl what kind of flowers she likes to wear when sending her a corsage?"

ANSWER: Absolutely! It is much more considerate and she'll appreciate your thought very much if you ask what color of frock she is planning to wear, and if she has preference for shoulder bouquet, or a corsage worn at the waist. Your florist will also appreciate it if you will pass this information on to him so he can make the bouquet the right shape.

Readers are invited to address etiquette problems to Claire Wallace. Write Claire Wallace, care of The Edmonton Bulletin. Replies will appear in this column.

Tax on New Cars Declared Harmful

TORONTO, Nov. 22.—(CP)—Increases announced by the federal government in excise taxes on new automobiles "will have a harmful effect on employment in the automotive industry itself, particularly if they are allowed to remain for any length of time," George Burt, Canadian director of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) said in a prepared statement Friday.

"The price of cars was too high for the average men even before the new taxes were announced," said Mr. Burt. "Our union has already expressed itself in favor of an embargo on the importation of cars from the United States because it means more employment for the Canadian auto worker, but the delay in putting the ruling into effect appears to have aggravated the situation and resulted in more drastic action than was necessary if the government had acted more speedily when it saw the situation confronting it, with respect to imports and the balance of trade."

Says Gold Subsidy Brings Confusion

REGINA, Nov. 22.—(CP)—W. J. Bichan, Saskatchewan director of mineral resources, said in a statement Friday that the recently-announced federal gold subsidy merely brought a greater degress of confusion to an industry "already on the verge of chaos."

The subsidy of $7 an ounce payable on all gold produced in excess of production for the year ending June 30 might benefit mines possessing large tonnages of marginal ore reserves, but there was "no reliable nor stable basis for the amount of exploration necessary to assure this country of adequate gold backing in the event of general adherence to existing financial principles through the next decade."

U.S. Counters Polish Motions

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The United States Friday dropped into the hopper of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization a resolution intended as a substitute for two Polish documents which echoed "war-mongering" charges previously thrashed out in the UN's general assembly.

The two resolutions offered by Stefan Wierblowski, chief Polish delegate, called upon UNESCO to appeal to the parent UN "to condemn most energetically all the war propaganda, the discrimination of races and nations, the attempts at supremacy by one state over another."

The documents also urged "educators, scholars, artists, writers and journalists in the whole world to oppose the war-mongers and defend peace with all the means and all their power."

United States reaction to Wierblowski's resolutions was that they were thinly-disguised echoes of "war-mongering" charges which the Soviet Union levelled against the United States, Turkey and Greece during the current UN assembly session in New York.

What Character does your handwriting Reveal?

Andrienne, famous handwriting analyst, today presents her first column. What is you true vocation? What type should you marry? What are your strong points? How can you overcome your weaknesses? These and many more questions can be scientifically answered by Andrienne.

From time to time Andrienne will analyze the handwriting of prominent personalities in the political, cultural and entertainment worlds. She will also select the most interesting specimens she receives in her mail. It is not a beautiful writing that indicates an interesting character. Some of the most magnetic personalities have the illegible scripts.

Here is how you can obtain an analysis by this famous graphologist:—Send twenty-five cents (in coin) and a STAMPED, SELF-ADDRESSED ENVELOPE, together with a sample of your writing to Andrienne, care of THE EDMONTON BULLETIN.

By ANDRIENNE

Is character really shown in handwriting?

Can a mere specimen of my script reveal what vocation I should follow; what type I should marry? Can it help me to overcome my weaknesses and make my strong points pay dividends?

Can it show me how to find success, happiness and contentment?

These and many more questions race through your mind as the facts of graphology are unfolded to you.

What doubt and skepticism you may have entertained will soon disappear when you discover the answers to all your queries can befound scientifically in graphology.

THIS SCIENCE, based on facts and deductions that have come down through the ages, now opens a new door of enlightenment and opportunity.

No more will you stumble blindly through life in a fog of uncertainty, but, firmly and steadily, you will march forward armed with the proper ammunition to meet life's problems.

The word "graphology" (or character reading from handwriting) comes from the Greek "graphein" meaning "to write" and "ology" which means science. Although, when translated literally, it means the science of writing, it more commonly expresses the science of reading character from handwriting.

It was as early as 1662 when Baldo, an Italian, wrote the first text on the subject. He was followed by many other graphologists, and the science quickly spread throughout Europe.

IN FRANCE, England, Germany and Italy graphology has, for more than a century, been recognized and practised extensively. The police departments of Paris, Berlin and Scotland Yard have trained graphologists on their staffs.

Prior to this, graphology conformed more to the intuitive school, but the Twentieth Century saw radical changes in the scientific works of Klages, Saudek and particularly of Nock Sylvus who based his entire findings upon the individual psychology of Alfred Adler. It is to Sylvus we owe the greatest debt—he lifted graphology from a literary curiosity to an exact science.

In America, too, it is rapidly gaining a firm foothold; not only the courts of law, but people everywhere are using graphology to practical advantage.

It will not be long before it will be offered at our universities and grow into everyday usage.

THE WAR HAS LEFT many disasters in its wake, but has been instrumental in increasing our knowledge of science. This is an age of efficiency and speed. The difficult days more than ever, taught us that in order to survive, we must be properly equipped. We cannot afford to merely "good" or average. We must rise above that rank if we are to gain a niche in this present economic pattern.

Thus a fresh impetus has been given to graphology. People are eagerly seeking knowledge that will help them find their proper place amidst all the mad turmoil and chaos.

A character analysis of their handwriting reveals them as they really are, in all their strength and weaknesses, talents and handicaps, but above all shows them how to utilize their abilities and find their proper callings.

Protest Charge At Rail Hearing

By JOHN LeBLANC

OTTAWA, Nov. 22. — (CP) —A protest that Saskatchewan Counsel M. A. MacPherson had impugned the integrity of the Canadian Pacific Railway was made by CPR counsel Friday at the national freight-rate inquiry.

In a brisk skirmish, railway lawyers sought vainly for a retraction of Mr. MacPherson's allegation that the CPR "under the guise of maintenance" was charging against current earnings expenditures that should be capitalized.

The western counsel made the accusation yesterday before the Board of Transport Commissioners as he opened provincial argument against the railway application for 30-per-cent freight-rate increase.

F .C. S. Evans, general counsel of the CPR, said today he wanted to protest this charge. It was a plain suggestion that "pretence" had been used in setting up maintenance funds.

The only evidence along this line, he said, was by a provincial accountant who had said that additions and betterments—not maintenance—should have been capital charges.

Declaring the CPR was "too touchy" Mr. MacPherson said he intended to try to establish that money was being charged to maintenance that should have been taken out of capital or deferred maintenance funds.

No Excise Tax Canada Jewelry

By CHESTER BLOOM

Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, Nov. 22.—The excise tax of 25 per cent imposed on numerous articles manufactured in Canada containing a proportion of imported U.S. material does not apply to Canadian manufactured jewelry.

Reason is that jewelry already carries a 25 per cent wartime luxury tax which has never been repealed.

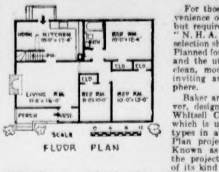
What was done was to totally prohibit the importation of jewelry which, in much the major part of such imports, came from the United States. But jewelry manufactured in Canada continues to bear only the usual 25 per cent luxury tax.

Many jewellers have not understood this and been alarmed at the possible effect on their Christmas trade. All jewelry in their possession, imported before the new import bans took effect last Tuesday, as well as Canadian manufactured jewelry is not liable to the additional excise tax, only to the usual 25 per cent luxury tax.

This same ruling applies to Canadian manufactured watches and clocks, and all other items of like nature in the jewelry trade which carry the 25 per cent luxury tax paid at the retail end by the customer.

The Chinese invented gunpowder as a means of enjoyment to celebrate holidays and not as a weapon.

N.H.A. HOME-OF-THE-MONTH



For those who prefer the convenience of the one-storey house but require three bedrooms, this "N. H. A. Home-of-the-Month" selection should prove interesting. Planned for construction economy and the utmost in livability, its clean, modern lines present an inviting and home-like atmosphere.

Baker and Russell, of Vancouver, designed this house for the Whitsell Construction Company which is using it as one of the types in an Integrated Housing Plan project at Burnaby, B.C. Known as Willingdon Heights, the project ranks as the largest of its kind with 200 units under construction or completed and an ultimate goal of 600 new homes. Integrated houses are financed jointly by approved lending institutions and Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation. They carry a controlled sales price and, as a result, qualify for larger loans, smaller down payments and longer amortization. More than 7,500 Integrated units have been approved to date with 290 builders actively engaged throughout the country.

Although designed for the West Coast, this month's house is suitable for use in other pasts of Canada. Entrance is made directly into the living room from the vestibule but due to the location of the kitchen door and the rear hall archway, traffic lanes would not seriously disrupt furniture arrangement. The kitchen-dinette is fairly large with ample cupboard and counter space in the kitchen area.

The functions of the house, living and sleeping, are effectively separated and privacy is assured. Two of the bedrooms are larger than required by C.M.H.C. Building Standards while the third has the minimum permissible floor area. Each bedroom is provided with an adequate closet of economical shape and linen storage in the hall is readily accessible to the bedrooms and bathroom.

The exterior is finished with wood siding or shingles below the window sills and stucco on the upper walls. However, any standard finish could be used.

The floor area of the house for estimating purposes is approximately 970 square feet.

Would Abolish European Colonies

BAGOTA, Nov. 22.—(AP)— The Colombian senate urged the foreign ministry Friday to promote "a continental policy tending to abolish European colonies in America by legal means, according to the principle of self determination," at the forthcoming inter-American conference in Bogota. The senate made the proposal in ratifying the hemispheric mutual defence treaty signed at Rio de Janiera.

Britain is the largest holder of European colonies in the western hemisphere. Her territory includes British Honduras, British Guiana, Newfoundland, The Bahama Islands and Trinidad. She has holdings, too, in the Leeward and Windward islands, along with France. The French have called French Guiana a "department of France" since last Jan. 1. The Dutch holdings are Dutch Guiana (Surinam) and Curacao.

SPORTS

HAROLD DEAN, Sports Editor

FLYERS HAVE BEEN THREATENING of late to break out in a scoring rash at any time and it was entirely fit and proper that the second visit of the league leaders should have been finally settled upon as the appropriate occasion.

And while three goals in 55 seconds won't go into hockey archives as a record, yet the feat is the top accomplishment for the season in the circuit and in all probability for the three years the western senior league has been in operation.

And as an added frill for the performance, last night's trio of goals came from one line and each member of the three-some—Dougie Anderson, Bing Merluk and "Handy Andy" Clovechok—took personal charge of one of them.

Black's Third, Best Goal of Night

THE ALL-TIME RECORD FOR SPEED in scoring three goals, of course, is the 24 seconds established by Montreal Maroons in the last minute of their game with New York Rangers, March 25, 1932. It will be be recalled too the three tallies upon which Don Raleigh set his assist mark last Sunday were registered in 81 seconds.

Research also reveals that the fastest three goals recorded in the Pacific Coast League were made in 35 seconds by Pasadena Panthers against San Francisco on Dec. 27, 1944. The Eastern United States Amateur record of 65 seconds is held by Baltimore Orioles at the expense of Atlantic City Sea Gulls on March 22, 1940.

And while on the subject of goals those three which Johnny Black marked up really set Caps back on their heels. Freddy Smitten suggested the pattern with a neat one in the first period and Johnny came through with a pair in the second. His third, the one which sealed the fate of Joe Fisher's squad, offset Ab McDougall's and was finished off with the master touch, Jerry Fodey never having a chance.

Flyers Finally Move Up

FLYERS, NOW TIED WITH SASKATOON, are only two points away from Lethbridge and just four from Calgary, but with considerable of the steam taken of the Reginans last night, it would not surprise if both Maple Leafs and Stampeders knock them over.

Flyer defence covered up well against the Caps and Al Rollins turned in a magnificent game in the nets, but dogged backchecking and continuous fore-checking had a big share in the victory. Quite aside from the result, it was easily the finest performance to date by Coach Frank Currie's club.

Flyers got just one break in the game and that was when Grinke fell as Black swung over the blue line for his first goal of the second period. Grinke's mishap might not have affected the ultimate result, but it did remove one obstacle for Johnny.

Caps Hold Early Edge

REGINA HAD MUCH THE BEST of play during most of the first period. Smitten's goal was the only shot Flyers had on Fodey for the first 14 minutes, but when the Edmonton boys started to go they really moved. Fodey stopped eight shots in the last five minutes of the session and had 10 in the period as compared to six for Rollins.

Both goalies had seven shots to deal with the middle canto and Flyers had a 11 to 10 edge in shots in the final stanza. At one stage in the third period both Young and Pettinger were off, Van Deelan having been banished along with "Pug" but the defence held tight. Gordie Watt turned in an excellent game and was ably helped out by Louis Holmes.

The crowd of 6,502 (official) paid admissions is high for the year. The round-the-world flyers, George Truman and Cliff Evans, took in the game and were introduced over the public address system by Mayor Harry Ainlay. They received a big hand from the customers.

Edge Royals by 4-3

Vancouver Canucks In Runner-Up Slot

VANCOUVER, Nov. 22—(CP)—Vancouver Canucks last night took over sole possession of the runner-up in the northern division of the Pacific Coast Hockey League, defeating the cellar-place New Westminister Royals 4-3.

The Canucks were paced by Mel Neilsen who notched a brace of goals. Other Vancouver marksmen were Hermie Gruhn, and Milliard. New Westminster scorers were Jack Tomson, Love and Fashaway.

The Canucks bulged the twine three times in the opening period against a singleton for New Westminster and never were headed. The Royals rang up a goal in each frame. The Vancouver victory put them two points up on third-place Tacoma Rockets.

First Period: 1 — Vancouver, Milliard (Carse) 1:48; 2 — Vancouver, Gruhn (Bathgate, Neilsen) 4:20; 3 — New Westminster, Fashaway, 6:12; 4— Vancouver, Neilsen (Bathgate, Gruhn) 16:29. Penalties — Schmidt, Voll, McIntyre, Carr.

Second Period: 5 — New Westminster, Love, 6:21. Penalties — Adams, Bathgate, Ballance.

Third Period: 6 — New Westminster, Tomson 7:50; 7 — Vancouver, Neilsen (Gruhn, Bathgate) 18:50. Penalties — Vickery, Sloboda (2).

Split Decision

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Billy Graham, 142½, of New York City, last night gained a 10-round split decision over Rocco Rossano, 143, Brooklyn, at St. Nicholas Arena before 3,642 fans who paid $11,444. There were no knockdowns.

Trio Flashes Lightning Scoring Attack

The league leading Regina Caps held no fear for this smiling trio of Flyers here last night. While the visitors were frantically striving for goals with the count 4-1 against them, Coach Frank Curry sent out his line of Bing Merluk (left), Doug Anderson (centre) and Andy Clovechok (right). The trio quickly added to the Caps' misery by peppering in three goals in 55 seconds, an unusual feat in any league. They were given a great big hand by more than 6,500 spectators. Photo by Ross.

Scotty McPherson Fires Pair Goals

BERKELEY, Calif., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Oakland Oaks last night climbed into a tie with San Francisco for the southern division leadership of the Pacific Coast Hockey League, turning back Los Angeles Monarchs 6-4.

Two third-period Oaks goals by Jim Turner and Morrie Hamilton brought victory after a wild second period. Oakland's Scotty McPherson, former Edmonton junior player, scored two goals for the winners.

St. Louis Browns Ship Five More

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 22.—(AP)—St. Louis Browns of the American League announced yesterday the release to their Toledo Club in the American Association of four pitchers and an infielder whose contracts will be taken over by the farm team.

Involved in the transfer were righthander Walter Brown and infielder Russ Peters who were with the Browns last season; righthander Jim Bilbrey and southpaw Chester Johnson, who had been with Toledo on option, and lefty Frank Biscan, with Toledo and San Antonio during the 1947 season.

Hockey Practices For Maple Leafs

Initial hockey practices of Maple Leaf Athletic juveniles, midgets and pee-wees are as follows:

Juveniles — Monday and Tuesday at Eastwood rink at 8 p.m.;

Midgets — Monday and Tuesday at 101 street rink at 7:30 p.m.

Pee-wees—Wednesday at 7 p.m. at both Eastwood and 101 street rinks.

Fine Gridders

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Bert Bell, commissioner of the National Professional Football League yesterday suspended Jack Matheson, Chicago Bears end, from participating in the Bears-Pittsburgh game Sunday and fined five other players, disqualified during the Chicago-Los Angeles Rams contest Nov. 16, $50 each.

All were ejected from the game for "unsportsmanlike conduct."

Albertans Favor Move

Lost-Time Pay Issue Given Cold Shoulder

LETHBRIDGE, Nov. 22.—(CP)—The plea that amateur athletes be allowed to receive payments for lost work-time—a hardy perennial—was given its annual "frost" killing here Friday at the national convention of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada.

The motion, which has been coming up for discussion for more than 10 years at union conventions, was disposed of in less than 10 minutes, being defeated 12 to three with two Alberta and one Ontario delegate supporting the idea.

N. C. HART of London, Ont., chairman of the resolutions committee, said the resolution from the Central Ontario branch had been discussed for two and a half hours at closed sittings and in recommending it be defeated contended adoption of such payments to amateurs would jeopardize the union's standing.

Bob Somers of Toronto, secretary of the Central Ontario branch, voted for his resolution along with C. W. McNicoll of Edmonton and B. W. Bellamy of Athabasca, president and secretary, respectively, of the Alberta branch.

Bob Osborne of Vancouver said that although he was opposing the motion at this time, he wished that international authorities be requested to study the question of amateurs receiving "financial adjustments" without jeopardizing their amateur status.

PRESIDENT George C. Macham of Montreal said Mr. Osborne's "statement of philosophy" would be accepted by the executive for consideration.

J. H. Crocker of London, Ont., said that the motion said sponsors "may" make these payments, but ultimately it would be "must" and it would be "utterly impossible" for sponsors to promote meets.

J. H. Ross of Calgary, physical training representative of the Canadian government, asked that he be recorded as not voting, adding he had a special reason for the request.

The resolution besides urging authorization of "broken time" payments to amateurs asked that steps be taken to have international amateur authorities adopt the principle.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 22.—(CP)—Gerry Duguid, fleet Winnipeg Rods half-back who played in the final won by Vancouver Blue Bombers 43-0, intends to leave for Vancouver where next year he will play with Bombers.

Ex-French Skier To Coach Canucks

MONTREAL, Nov. 22.—(CP)—Emile Allais, former world champion skier in his native France and now an instructor at a Valcartier resort near Quebec City, will travel to Europe as coach of the Canadian Olympic ski team, it was announced last night by Harry Pangman, chairman of the selection committee.

Pangman also announced that one or more cross-country specialists will be added to the team and will be chosen after test races at Valcartier.

Laprade Short For 2nd Record

MONTREAL, Nov. 22.—(CP)—Just in case you're wondering if New York Rangers have come up with another National Hockey League record, you can forget it.

Last Wednesday night Edgar Laprade rapped in two goals in 34 seconds when Rangers defeated Detroit Red Wings 6-5.

Laprade's performance falls short of the individual scoring record set March 13, 1938, by Carl Liscombe while playing for the Detroiters against Chicago. Liscombe scored twice in 23 seconds.

Don Raleigh of Rangers set an individual assist record last Sunday against Montreal Canadiens, taking part in three goals in one minute and 21 seconds.

BOSTON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Boston Red Sox yesterday bought outright the Scranton Club of the Eastern Baseball League.

Ed Doherty, 47, publicity man for the American League Red Sox since 1939, was named president, business manager and treasurer of the new club.

Flyers Shoot Down Lofty Regina Caps

Third String Nets 3 Goals In 55 Seconds

By Bert Greer

"The bigger they come, the harder they fall," appears to be the slogan of Edmonton's fast-travelling Flyers.

In any case they certainly assumed the "giant-killer" role at the arena last night when they slew the lofty Regina Caps with a stinging 7-1 victory.

It was an impresive victory, too. The Edmontonians not only disorganized the smooth-passing visitors with tenacious back-checking and a well-organized attack of their own, but in the dying minutes of the game when the Caps should have been pouring on the power, the third-string line of the homesters fired three goals in 55 seconds.

IT WAS a fitting climax to a fine team performance and the crowd of more than 6,500 almost brought the arena down when Doug Anderson finished off a close-in play with Bing Merluk at 17:20, Merluk fired home Anderson's relay at 18:00, and Andy Clovechok went in alone for another at 18.15.

Flyers had virtually tucked away the win before the third-period outburst, but it was encouraging evidence that the line packed plenty of power.

JOHNNY BLACK finished off his plays in grand style to lead the scoring parade with three of the first four Edmonton goals. Morey Rimstad distinguished himself as a play-maker with three assists, while Bing Merluk and Doug Anderson collected one of each. Freddie Smitten and Andy Clovechok sniped singles. Gordie Watt and Louis Holmes also shared in goals.

Ab McDougall, whose speed and shifty stick-handling was one of the highlights of the match, scored Regina's lone marker. Coach Joe Fisher was in on the play.

Flyers moved up to a tie with Saskatoon Quakers at the bottom of the standing.

THERE WAS never a dull moment in the entire 60 minutes as both clubs went full speed on the attack and back-checked like fiends.

Shortly after a dangerous Merluk-Clovechok rush, Smitten took a neat pass from Louis Holmes near the Caps' blue line and sifted in on Fodey. His drive went between the baffled goalie's legs.

THAT WAS the only goal of the lightning - fast period, but exceptional goal-tending by Al Rollins and Fodey was chiefly responsible. Caps applied the pressure and dominated the play for more than five minutes, but before the breather the Flyers took over and were peppering the Regina goal from all angles.

Fairburn and McDougall had sparkling opportunities to beat Rollins, but were outguessed, while Kreller, Merluk, Rimstad and Pringle made dangerous sorties at the other end of the ice.

Black stole the show in the second and his two goals just about consolidated the Flyer conquest. The first came after only 53 seconds of play. Rimstad started the goal-ward manoeuvre behind his own blue line, passing to Maher, who in turn relayed the disc to Black. Johnny had the goalie beaten all the way with a knee-high shot.

KRELLER hit the post from eight feet out and Holmes to Merluk plays came close, but Rollins had his most anxious moments when Dutch Van Deelan and Staseson and Fisher and McDougall made unsuccessful raids.

Edmonton took advantage of an edge in man-power with Black finishing off a three-way play inside the Regina blue line while Barnes was in the penalty box. Rimstad and Watt provided the passes.

Watt was serving a penalty when Regina counted its lone goal. It was one of the best of the night, with Ab McDougall feinting the defence out of position and gliding right in on Rollins. He flipped the disc over the goalie as he dropped in an effort to block the shot.

BLACK sewed up the game with a dazzling goal mid-way through the period. Taking a relay from Rimstad, he got up a full head of steam and was going at top speed when he reached the opposition net. He then sucked the goalie out and back-handed the disc into the open side of the net.

The game roughened up toward the end and after Young, Pettinger and Van Deelan had been waved to the cooler, the Flyer third-stringers put on their big show.

"Y" Redbirds Topple Varsity Hoopsters

The Y Redbirds continued to roll forward along the unbeaten path in the Edmonton Senior Men's Basketball League last night, eking out a close 42-40 victory over Bearcats on the Varsity drill hall floor. In the "curtain dropper," a sizzling group of Precision Machine cagers tripped Latter Day Saints 38-30.

In running their undefeated string to two games in the still youthful league, the highly-touted Redbirds were pressed right down to the final whistle. On the short end of a 17-14 score at half-time, the Y hoopsters staged a neat comeback in the final frame, outscoring the Varsity Bearcats 28-23.

JOHN BOER and Roy Chobotuck sparked the Redbirds to victory, each tossing 11 points througn the hoop. Ross Pierce with 10, and Jim MacDonald with eight points, topped the loser's scoring list.

In the second game, the Precision crew had just as hard a time subduing the fighting Latter Day Saints. Again a rally was needed and the machinists came through with a 22-13 edge in the last half, after falling back 17-16 in the opener.

JACK CASEY, potting shots from all angles was the big gun for Precision with 12 points, while Lervae Cahoon was best for the losers wth nine.

Rimstad Has 14 Assists

Ab McDougall Moves Into Scoring Lead

Ab McDougall, Regina centre, who gave goal-tenders the jitters in the Pacific Coast League last season, is out in front of the Western Canada Senior League point-sniping race, according to unofficial figures. Ab's total of 22 points is made up of 17 goals, also highest in the league, and five assists.

SEVERAL EDMONTON Flyers, with Morey Rimstad showing the way, leaped a few steps up the list. The blond Flyer centre has massed five goals and 14 assists, which is good for fourth position. Rimstad and Byron "Butch" McDonald of Calgary with 14 assists apiece, share play-making honors.

BILL MAHER and Johnny Black, both of Edmonton, also have moved up a couple of notches.

Bill Snider of Saskatoon Quakers advanced up the ladder and is now holding down second spot with eight goals and 13 assists. "Butch" McDonald, failed to add to his total and was pushed from first place to third.

Bob McFarlane Awarded Trophy

LETHBRIDGE, Nov. 22.—(CP)—Bob McFarlane, 20-year-old quarter-miler of the University of Western Ontario, Friday was awarded the Norton H. Crow trophy as the outstanding male athlete in Canada during the last year.

An Alberta proposal at the AAU meeting that received speedy rejection was one asking that rules be amended to allow officers of affiliated and allied bodies to hold such posts without having an amateur card.

Mr. Bellamy argued that he could see no justification for the present rule that it is compulsory to hold an amateur card to be an official of an organization connected with the union.

LaMotta Barred By Commissioner

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(AP)—New York's state Commission last night handed middleweight Jake LaMotta an indefinite suspension on a charge of concealing vital facts about his physical condition for a fight here a week ago in which he lasted only four rounds against Billy Fox of Philadelphia.

Commission Chairman Eddie Eagan, announcing the suspension at the end of a closed session during which LaMotta was questioned for more than three hours, also ordered the Twentieth Century Sporting Club to hold up the purses of both fighters until the district attorney's office completes its investigation of the fight.

The two inquiries were launched simultaneously after newspaper stories criticized LaMotta's performance leading to his fourth-round knockout by Fox at Madison Square Garden.

Too Many Arrangements

Olympic Hockey Fuss Greys Ahearne's Hair

By Jack Sullivan

LONDON, Nov. 22. —(CP)— John Francis (Bunny) Ahearne is unhappy, one of the old-school hockey officials who can hatch a plot along with the best of them, he hasn't time these days for behind-the-scenes manoeuvring.

Bunny, secretary of the British Ice Hockey Association and general secretary of the International Ice Hockey Federation, has been caught in a terrific pre-Olympic scramble necessitating a 12-hour working day interrupted by trans-Atlantic telephone calls, cables and letters.

BUNNY, CALLED a "racketeer" many times in his 15-year career in hockey, is busily planning an enterprising European tour for Canada's Olympic team. Four of his daily working hours are spent on the telephone trying to arrange ship and air travel and hotel accommodation.

He has had to wheedle Bank of England officials into allowing European trips for British teams and to wiggle around governmental red tap following the no-foreign-travel ban. So far he has been successful.

ARRIVAL OF THE Canadian hockey club in Britain in January is placing a terrific burden on his shoulders. Although he stoutly contends he is not a promoter, Bunny is trying to figure out ways and means of defraying travel cost from North America and also to make the three-week lag before the Olympic Games a paying proposition.

The Canadians will travel to Paris, Stockholm, and Davos. A post Olympic series, not yet definite, calls for matches in Belgium, Czechoslovakia, France, Holland, Italy, Sweden and Switzerland.

IN ADDITION to this work Ahearne is busy arranging trips by British clubs to most of these countries; visits to Britain by Swedish, Czechoslovakian, French and Swiss; extra games against British clubs for the English Olympic team; preparing BIHA schedules and rules; meeting association referees and coaches, rink managers and attending twice-monthly sessions of the BIHA executive council.

However, the natty, fast-talking official has some consolation for his hard work. He also operates the Ahearne and Company Travel Agency and receives his commission on travels of the various teams.

KO Victory

AUGUSTA, Me., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Leo O'Leary, 159, Montreal, knocked out Leo Mayo, 154, Augusta, in 1:31 of the first round of a scheduled eight-round boxing bout here last night.

Seek Benefits Merchant Marine

A new deal is sought for men of the Merchant Navy in a resolution unanimously passed by city council at a special meeting Friday afternoon seeking passage by the federal parliament of necessary legislation to put the men of this branch of Canada's war service and their dependents on the same basis as members of the other three services for benefits.

Copies of the resolution will be sent to Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King, cabinet ministers, the leader of the opposition, and to leaders of political parties in the House of Commons.

The text of the resolution follows:

Whereas the men of the Merchant Marine of Canada were exposed to all the hazards of war in the recent World War II and performed a necessary service to the war effort, and

Whereas the men of the Merchant Marine are not considered in the grants for housing, medicine and dental care, civilian training, insurance and other provisions which were made for veterans of the three armed services, and

Whereas many of these men have found themselves in grave difficulties on demobilization,

Therefore be it resolved that this city council respectfully petition you and your government to pass the necessary legislation which will put these men and their dependents on the same basis of benefits of members of other services for comparable service.

Bridge

By William E. McKenney

Meetings of the National Laws Commission are always a good source of bridge hands. This committee meets once a week to discuss the workability of the laws of contract bridge and possible changes that have been suggested. When the discussion of laws lags, someone starts to talk about a bridge hand.

Lee Hazen of New York brought up today's hand, and his theory on the bidding is interesting. He and his partner were using an ace-showing response to two-bids, so when North responded with two no trump, all Hazen knew was that he did not have the ace of clubs.

Hazen now could have bid three hearts or even three diamonds. But he said that if he bid three hearts he felt that his partner's response would be four clubs. In that case Hazen could have bid four diamonds, and North would then take a choice of one of the three suits South had bid.

However, if North by any chance could bid hearts or diamonds freely, Hazen thought he had a pretty good gamble for seven. That was his reason for bidding three spades, and it paid big dividends when his partner responded with four hearts. Hazen knew that he had five hearts, and the bid of seven hearts was automatic.

Some of those at the meeting did not agree at first with Hazen's bid of three spades, though they were inclined to do so when he explained his reasoning. However, Waldemar von Zedtwitz pointed out that North might have had four small spades and the queen of hearts or queen of diamonds. With such a holding, a sure small slam would be in the making, yet it might have been difficult to bid.

It is nice to pick up big cards, but as P. Hal Sims once remarked, don't let them wreck you. Make them work for you. Don't start to bid a big hand blindly. Have a sound line of reasoning such as Lee Hazen explained on this hand.

Major and Minor Notes

By John Oliver

NEXT Wednesday, attention of Edmonton music lovers will be focussed on McDougall United Church, where, at 8:30 p.m., Carmen Torres, coloratura soprano, will appear in recital in the Celebrity Concert Series, sponsored by the Women's Musical Club. Said to be one of the most colorful artists on the concert platform today, her impending appearance has aroused widespread interest. She was born at Geneva, Switzerland, where her father was the Spanish consul general. Educated in Paris, she made her debut when she was 17 years old, singing the role of Gilda in Verdi's "Rigoletto." During the recent war and while unable to leave Europe, she enlarged her repertoire to include at least a dozen operatic roles. Many appearances with symphony orchestras took place. Also, she has given many recitals. A French-made film in which she appeared, entitled "Solita de Cordoue," was released in the United States early this year.

JOHN OLIVER

Last summer, at the Molson Stadium, Montreal, she made her North American debut. There were 20,000 persons in the audience. About a year ago she appeared as soloist with the Toronto Symphony Orchestra and made such a favorable impression that she was engaged almost immediately for a return appearance this year.

BELOW is the program of the concert: Quella Fiamma Che M'accende, Marcello; Gia la notte, Haydn; Quel Ruscelletto, Paradies; Guitares et Mandolines, Grovlez; Fantoches, Debussy; Green (Aquarelles) Dubussy; Toujours (Always) Faure; the aria Ah, Fors E Lui from "La Traviata," Verdi; Heart Cry, Giannini; Everything That I Can Spy, Bone and Fenton; At the Well, Hageman; Pano Marciano, Nin; Asturian, de Falla; and three works by Obradors, namely, Colpas de Curro Dulce, La Guitarra Sin Prima and El Vito.

At the piano will be one of the most distinguished conductors and pianists on this side of the Atlantic, George Schick, who, in addition to being a highly skilled pianist and accomplished accompanist, is a conductor recognized as being among the best in New York. He has directed both grand opera and light opera, on and near Broadway.

Last summer he conducted a series of special opera performances in Carnegie Hall. A year ago, he was the musical director of the lavish production of Franz Lehar's internationally successful operetta, "The Land of Smiles," in which Richard Tauber, who will sing here later in the season, had the leading role.

RAY LEROY OLSON, director of the Dominion Institute of Music at present is on a visit to Vancouver, organizing four music schools. He attended a concert by the Vancouver Symphony Orchestra, at which Carroll Glenn, prominent United States violinist, who opened the Celebrity Series here four years ago, was the soloist. She played the Sibelius D Minor Violin Concerto "in a grand manner." Mr. Olson expects to return here in the near future to continue his musical activities.

THE EDMONTON Civic Opera Society, which, with two performances today at the Strand theatre, concludes its 20th production, namely, "Rose-Marie," is trying an experiment. It is endeavoring to determine the type of show its patrons prefer and if there are any specific operas that the public desires to see on the stage.

Questionnaires were submitted to members of the "Rose-Marie" audiences. Among the questions asked were the following: Did you particularly enjoy any of the operas more than the others? What are your favorites? Would you like repeat performances of any of them? Is there any other opera that you would particularly like to see presented by the Edmonton Civic Opera Society?

Just for the sake of the record, at this stage of the proceedings, it might be well to recapitulate the productions. Here they are: 1935, "Maritana"; 1936, "Il Trovatora"; 1937, "The Red Mill" and "Faust"; 1938, "The Student Prince" and "Martha"; 1939, "The Desert Song"; 1940, "Blossom Time" and "Carmen"; 1941, "Naughty Marietta" and "The Chocolate Soldier"; 1942, "The Vagabond King" and "Florodora"; 1943, "The Firefly"; 1944, "Katinka" and "The New Moon"; 1946, "Bitter Sweet" and "Countess Maritza"; 1947, "The Prince of Pilsen," and rounding out the year, "Rose-Marie."

There are some sidelights on the above that may be of interest. It will be noted that in the first two years one production a year was embarked upon, with grand opera only favored. Then in the third year, two productions a year came into vogue. The fall effort was a grand opera and that in the spring was devoted to light opera.

With the coming of the war the schedule was upset, and was varied in accordance with prevailing circumstances. In 1945 operations were entirely suspended. Of the 20 productions, five have been devoted to grand and 15 to light operas. "Maritana," and "Martha," although light in texture, usually come within the general classification of grand opera.

It will be noted, further, that most of the light operas selected have been transcribed—for better or for worse—from the stage to the screen. There has been a feeling that the works familiarized through screen versions have started with a better box office appeal than the others. Whether or not this is the case, no one can say. All the light operas produced have been seen on the screen save "The Red Mill," "Florodora," "Katinka," "Countess Maritza" and "The Prince of Pilsen." However, all these have been exceptionally successful on the stage and over a long period of time.

Doubtless the results of the questionnaire will be interesting. There will be a wide range of preferences. There are many fine grand and light operas available. The 20 productions by the Edmonton Civic Opera Society are only a small percentage of the number of first class works yet to be seen. There are many delightful operettas from Vienna, France, England as well as the United States that well justify revival.

Generally speaking the light operas of yesteryear are more desirable for amateur presentation, because they have more opportunities for the chorus — a greater amount of part singing, and it is the chorus that forms the mainstay of an amateur opera company.

The more modern light operas tend toward smaller choruses, which have little group singing and then mostly in unison. Jerome Kern's earliest musical comedies led the way in the small chorus. Some of his greatest successes, such as "Very Good Eddie," and "Oh Boy" had only six girls in the chorus and they danced more than they sang.

But in the vast majority of light operas and musical comedies of the years up to and including the First Great War, there are many opportunities for the chorus as well as the principals. Some of the works written since 1918 have had extensive chorus work, but the majority, to cut down production costs, as well as cater to a faster moving era, reduced sizes of casts, choruses and orchestras. Most of the more recent works have been written with specific stars in mind, a special type of comedian, or perhaps a popular crooner. As the show revolves largely around that particular star, the rest of the material is only more or less "fill in." Consequently, such musical plays, successful as they may be on Broadway or Shaftesbury Avenue, with the original stars, are not suitable for amateur production, as only rarely can adequate leads be found. But the choice of attractive works is almost without limit and the Civic Opera Society should have no difficulty in finding first rate operas for many years to come.

Visiting Coast

Ray LeRoy Olson, Edmonton violinist and teacher, who is visiting the Pacific Coast at present. He expects to return in the near future.

AT THE last regular meeting of the Edmonton branch of the Alberta Registered Music Teachers Association, it was announced that the dates of the biennial convention of the Canadian Federation of Music Teachers Associations will be next July 5, 6 and 7. The gathering will be held at Banff. Plans already are well advanced for the program. V. A. Beringer reported that the recent "young artist" concert held here under the organization's auspices was successful. H. G. Turner, the president, said that nomination of officers for next year, would take place at the next meeting.

Sells Certificates Issued in Alberta

Results of Alberta's experiment with "Prosperity Certificates" continue to be seen, though the experiment itself concluded some years ago. Those who make a hobby of collecting odd forms of money continue to purchase the bills to add to their collection.

In the six-month period covered by the provincial financial statement issued Thursday by C. K. Huckvale, provincial auditor, three of the bills were sold at a dollar each.

Paul Gallico Says:

The increasing importance of the One-Punch or Cafe-Society Fight in our national life as emphasized by performances in that field registered by Johnny (Expense Account) Meyer, Col. L. S. (Did-he-resign-or-was-he-heaved) McPhail, Frank (Bow Tie) Sinatra, and other local heroes, has made necessary a reconsideration of the aims and rules and primary theories of the Manly Art of Self-Defence as expounded to our young.

It seems like a shocking waste of time and energy to invest in a quartet of boxing mittens and instruct the offspring in the left jab as the necessary perliminary to the right cross, and the defensive tactics of blocking and ducking when all he needs to become a success with the saloon set is a knowledge of the technique of the right-hand sneak swing and the time and place to let it go, coupled with a primary chart of weights, sizes and ages so that he will never make the mistake of letting one fly at a gent who is stronger, younger, or better than himself.

Sure Publicity

It is becoming increasingly obvious that it is more important to get your name in the papers than to busy yourself with earning a living and minding your own business, and one sure way of accomplishing this is to win a couple of those one-punch affairs on the floor of some prominent cafe.

For this reason, ever mindful of the welfare of my customers, permit me to amend the Marquis of Queensbury Rules and offer Gallico's Guide to Social Success, the Social Seeker's Manual, or How to Avoid The Exhausting Effects and Obvious Perils of Having to Throw That Second Punch — in Three Easy Lessons, Complete With Illustrated Booklet.

Rule 1: Never, if it is possible to avoid it, let the punch go when the intended recipient thereof is looking, since this entails the wholly unecessary risk of the party ducking and your hitting the headwaiter, a practice frowned upon by the proprietors of most of the swankier traps. It is also common sense that the victim makes a better target if his head is slightly turned, presenting his chin broadside and he is occupied with something else.

Veteran Homes Action Delayed

Action on requesting the dominion government, through Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, to erect 300 veteran homes here was deferred by city council at a special meeting held Friday afternoon pending clarification of the senior government's contract under which the structures would be erected.

Mayor Harry Ainlay told aldermen that there was conflict of opinion between the commissioners on the interpretation of the dominion government's contract, and that Angus McClacky, representative for western Canada for Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, would be in the city early in December when the contract terms would be clarified.

He said there was no urgency in arriving at a decision, as assurance had been given that application made in early December would be in time for the allocation of homes to different municipalities.

Ald. James H. Ogilvie was of the opinion the provincial government should be approached to take up some share of the subsidization which the municipality will have to bear under the terms of the dominion contract. The commissioners were instructed to consult with provincial officials on his suggestion.

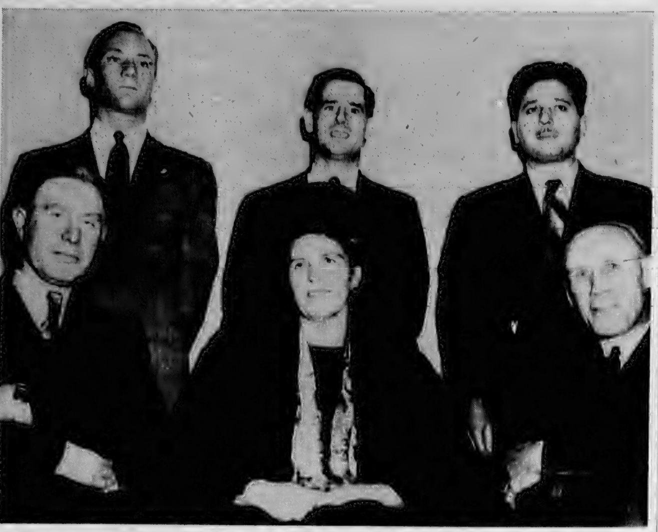
Aldermen also delayed consideration of a submission by the Edmonton Home Builders' Association which asked counsil to give consideration to the subsidization of low cost housing for sale to veterans to be erected under the dominion's integrated building scheme.

In its submission the Home Builders' Association pointed out the advantage of erecting homes for purchase rather than rental, both to the city and the renter or purchaser. Under the rental scheme a tenant pays for a house in 40 years and has nothing to show for it, and the city receives $50 less in taxes which in 40 years would amount to $2,000.

Under the purchase scheme the tenant owns his own home in 30 years or less, having paid the city full taxes from the start of the contract, and his monthly purchase and tax cost are approximately the same as rent for the same house.

Any assistance given by the city to a purchaser of this type would be repaid in 10 or 12 years by the difference in tax payment of $70 annually under the rental plan, and $125 under the purchase scheme.

CCF Convention Elects Officers for 1948 Term



On Friday afternoon the delegates attending the annual CCF provincial convention elected the executive for the opening year. The above picture is of the new executive. Standing from left to right are: Harold Bronson, Cherhill, 2nd vice-president; John H. King, Edmonton, secretary; W. Margolus, Edmonton, provincial treasurer. Sitting from left to right are: J. Ernest Cook, Calmar, president; Mrs. Nellie Peterson, Mayerthorpe, 1st vice-president, and Elmer E. Roper, MLA, Edmonton, provincial leader. Photo by Ross.

Roper Again CCF Leader

Elmer E. Roper, Edmonton MLA, has been re-elected provincial leader of the CCF in Alberta.

Mr. Roper was among three members of the CCF provincial executive returned to office by acclamation during the election of officers at the annual provincial convention in the Memorial Hall Friday afternoon. The two other officials returned to the executive without a vote were: J. E. Cook, Calmar, president, and W. Margolus, Edmonton, provincial-treasurer.

Mr. Roper has been provincial leader of the party since 1942, and Mr. Cook now commences his third term as president.

Mrs. Nellie Peterson of Meyerthorpe was re-elected to serve her fifth term as first vice-president.

Harold Bronson, Cherhill, replaces W. W. Scott, Lethbridge as second vice-president. Mr. Bronson is a student at the Univerwsity of Alberta.

Friday afternoon, A. M. "Sandy" Nicholson, national treasurer for the CCF party addressed the delegates, and made an appeal for funds.

Urges Support RCAF Reserve

Support for RCAF reserve, and cadet training was urged by Paul Y. Davoud, Winnipeg, assistant to the vice-president of Trans-Canada Airlines, when he spoke before Edmonton United Services Institute at a meeting in the Prince of Wales Armory Friday evening.

Mr. Davoud spoke on "War in the Air," and reviewed his experiences with night fighter squadrons overseas during the Second Great War. He explained the tactical use of night fighter groups in defensive roles and when used as cover for attacking troops.

Urging greater interest in peacetime training, Mr. Davoud said the Battle of Britain would have been lost had it not been for the training British airmen had received in their auxiliary groups, where they learned flying at the controls of Tiger Moths and similar aircraft.

Highway Speed

Motor Association Voices Disapproval

The Edmonton branch of the Alberta Motor Association has voiced its disapproval of the provincial government's proposed fixed maximum rate of speed on highways.

AT ITS ANNUAL meeting held in the Masonic Temple Friday night the association passed a resolution urging that the present speed regulations under the Provincial Highway Traffic Act should not be changed and that copies of this resolution be presented to the provincial meeting of the AMA for its endorsation.

Reports presented to the meeting by C. H. Grant, KC, president, and W. C. Caton, secretary-manager, painted a picture of great progress for the Edmonton branch during the present fiscal year ending October 31. Roy L. Greene's financial report indicated a sound situation for the organization displayed an improvement over the previous year.

Total membership in the Alberta Motor Association now exceeds 27,000. The combined membership of regulars and associates of the Edmonton branch stands at 11,708. This is an increase of 3,278 over that of last year. At the end of the preceding year the Edmonton branch contained [illegible] regulars and [illegible] associates, and 35 per cent of the regular members are from country points.

A recently published bulletin shows that 96 associations affiliated with the American Automobile Association had gains of 1,000 members or more. First in the bulletin was the New York Auto Club with a gain of 27,982, and the AMA was in sixth position with a gain of 3,156, leading 90 states and British Columbia which was the only other Canadian auto club listed. British Columbia was 31st.

DR. G. J. HOPE, provincial president, told the meeting that one of the AMA's main objectives should be a determined effort to get the highway from the American border to Dawson Creek in the best possible condition in support of the Alaska Highway. Dr. Hope stated that a committee is working in an attempt to assist the City of Edmonton with its bridge accommodation over the Saskatchewan river. The provincial president also told of the possibility of the Edmonton branch considering a more adequate and permanent office location along with off-street parking space for its members.

During the evening many members expressed their gratitude for the road plan and the improvements to highways undertaken by the provincial government this year. The meeting resolved to move a vote of thanks to the provincial cabinet in appreciation of the current effort

The boys and girls doing safety patrol work at the schools received high praise from the entire meeting Friday night. Speakers stressed the fact that not a single child has been injured at points covered since the patrols were organized. A resolution was passed to supply each patroller with a theatre pass for every 15 days duty completed. Other and greater means of expressing appreciation are being planned.

THE FOLLOWING 25 members of the association were named to serve as directors of the Edmonton branch for the year 1948: L. A. Barrie, A. Blyth, W. A. Crawford, W. F. Empey, H. A. Godson, C. H. Grant, R. L. Greene, A. P. Gregory, J. Hossack, R. LeDrew, R. H. McKinnon, L. E. McQuarrie, D. McAfee, E. E. Hopes, L. O. Sanders, H. Stutchbury, F. Turnbull, R. H. Turnbull, C. W. Turner, Dr. G. J. Hope, Dr. M. A. McIntyre, Dr. W. E. Walker.

The directors will select the executive for next year at their regular meeting on December 3.

President C. H. Grant was in the chair during the evening.

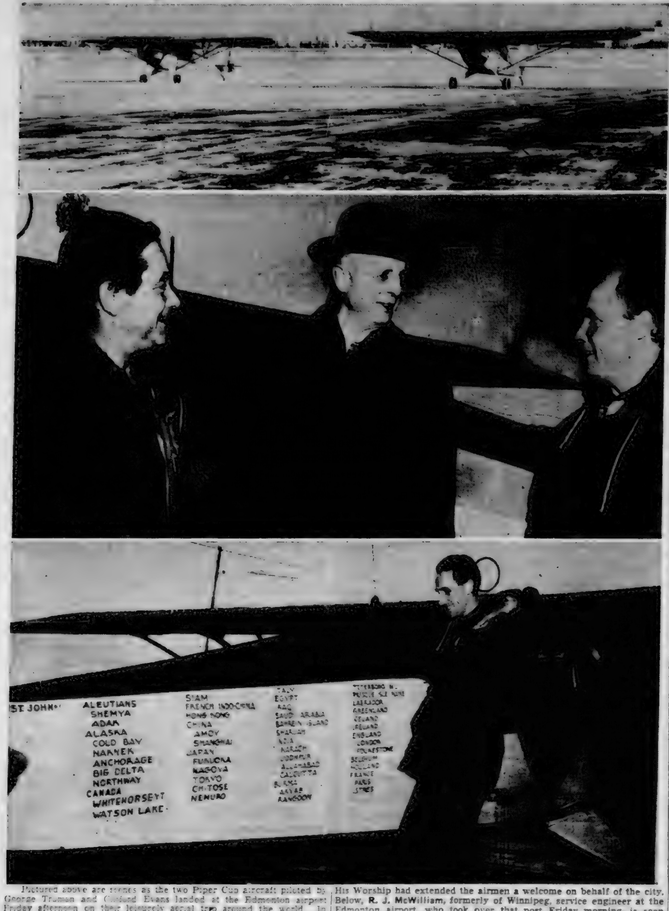
Tiny Globe-Circling Aircraft Land at Edmonton Airport



Pictured above are scenes as the two Piper Cub aircraft piloted by George Truman and Clifford Evans landed at the Edmonton airport Friday afternoon on their leisurely aerial trip around the world. In the top panel the aircraft are pictured as they taxied up to the Administration Building. In the second picture, left to right, are George Truman, Mayor Harry Ainlay and Clifford Evans, snapped just after His Worship had extended the airmen a welcome on behalf of the city. Below, R. J. McWilliam, formerly of Winnipeg, service engineer at the Edmonton airport, who took over that post Friday morning, is seen looking with interest at the names of spots the two airmen had visited, on the side of Mr. Truman's "City of the Angels."

"Flivver" Pilots Near End of Long Flight

Round the World Fliers in City

Two American fliers—on a leisurely globe-girdling flight—set their two Piper Cub airplanes down on Edmonton's airport at 2:30 Friday afternoon, half-an-hour ahead of their scheduled landing time.

BOTH PLANES HIT the runway at the same time, and both taxied up to the ramp behind the Administration Building with precision born of careful training and long practice.

The fliers were George Truman and Clifford Evans who set out on their trip from Teterboro airport in New Jersey on Aug. 9 and since have seen the world pleasantly and without haste. There was no schedule to meet—if flying conditions were poor they simply didn't fly.

The two will stay in Edmonton until Monday. Mr. Truman hopes to meet his brother, Russell M. Truman of Brandon, here Sunday morning. The brothers are the only survivors of a family which homesteaded near Ryder, Saskatchewan, over 30 years ago. They have not seen each other since.

THERE WASN'T a large crowd at the airport to greet them, but Mayor Harry Ainlay extended the good wishes of Edmonton citizens and airport officials made them warmly welcome.

The fliers were guests later in the afternoon at a reception at the Macdonald hotel attended by men whose names form the core of the history of aviation in northern Canada—men like Matt Berry and others.

"They've done a remarkable job—I wouldn't tackle it," one veteran bush pilot asserted.

Cliff Evans said he felt cold in the bite of Alberta's winter as he left his aircraft. He couldn't explain why he shivered nor why his teeth chattered. All he wanted to do at the moment, he said, was to get into the administration building where it was warm.

BOTH PLANES were yellow with red trimmings and both carried on one side the name of each place they had visited. On the other side was a colorful array of flags of the countries in which they had landed.

The plane piloted by George (no relation to Harry) Truman was named "City of the Angels" and that of his brother pilot was christened "City of Washington."

"We had a fine flight from Fort St. John," Mr. Truman said. "For once we had a tail wind to help us."

Both men paid tribute to the help given by the RCAF. They said the air route from Alaska through Canada was very good with lots of landing fields in case of emergency.

On arrival here they had travelled between 20,000 and 21,000 air miles in their tiny ships. They said the whole trip had been "wonderful."

People all around the world had been hospitable. "If the different nations of the world could see more of each other, there wouldn't be so much misunderstanding," George Truman felt.

WORST PART of the trip had been crossing of the Atlantic and Pacific, though they had flown the latter ocean at its narrow end, from Tokyo to the northern tip of the Aleutian Islands.

Flying across Alaska toward Canada had been "rugged," they confided.

Their plans did not include flying over Russian territory, so they did not run afoul of any Soviet flying regulations. At one point however they had been delayed for six days by officialdom.

This was in Saudi Arabia, where they ran into some trouble getting proper clearances to leave. Apparently the documents needed the endorsation of King Ibn Saud, who took his regal time about the whole thing.

Pilot Truman said he wasn't sure what part of Saskatchewan could claim him as a native son, except that it was somewhere near Moose Jaw. He talked to his brother Russell by "ham" radio Thursday night and Russell was to leave Brandon early Friday for Edmonton.

Their plan after leaving Lethbridge was to fly from that city to Los Angeles non-stop. However, Spokane, Washington, authorities have promised a welcome at that city, so the fliers were not sure they would follow their original plan.

That's just the way the whole trip has been—a leisurely tourist flight around the world, stopping where fancy and mechanical necessity dictated, and with no desire to break records.

Noted News Executive Addresses Canadian Club

Canada was the first to disclose to the world that "subversive forces of totalitarian dictatorship extend their conspiratorial tentacles far afield," R. W. Keyserlingk said in an address to the Women's Canadian Club of Edmonton at a luncheon meeting at the Macdonald hotel Friday. Mr. Keyserlingk is managing director of British United Press, Montreal, and the subject of his address was "Canada in The Year of Decision."

Canadian government was supplied with proof positive, continued Mr. Keyserlingk, that people under the guise of political ideology became puppets of the national ambitions of world conquest, by Igor Gouzenko. This young man brought up in the servitude of an all powerful state saw the deceit of his masters in the freedoms and abundance of a full life in Canada and acted without fear in offering this proof to Canada, added Mr. Keyserlingk.

"Millions of people are vacillating between throwing in their lot with our freedom because we can give them hope or becoming tired and disheartened into the abandon of totalitarian regimentation. Even new efforts are directed to discredit our stand in the eyes of those who would see in us not only a symbol of free society, but also an example to follow," said Mr. Keyserlingk. An indication of this was the extreme effort being put forward by the representatives of totalitarian regimes in this country to repatriate immigrants.

Canada, in the eyes of millions in Europe and Asia, "stands out in a world of chaos, violence and inhumanity as a country which has preserved its heritage of freedom and respect for the liberties of the individual, and as a country not burdened with a history of national ambition or international compromise," he said. To these people she is an oasis of ordered government, material plenty and social tranquility in a world of political upheaval, material distress and social maladjustments.

Sweden, Denmark, Switzerland, Holland are countries living in the shadow of a crushing and ruthless might, said Mr. Keyserlingk. But Canada sharing their ideals of freedom, has no such excuse. It is to Canada that countries no longer free to speak, either through justified fear or actual subjection, look today. Canada thus plays a part far beyond her diplomatic stature or economic potential.

Canada's power, by precept and example, by fearless championship of ideals on the international rostrums where her representatives can speak up, is recognized by those who are today fighting for the submersion of more and more millions under the influence of totalitarianism, and Canada's task is to hold the torch of freedom high. Mr. Keyserlingk added that this country has an international record of friendly neighborliness, of territorial and economic development and is regarded as a nation whose ambition is peace based on justice for all.

CNR Glee Club Gives Concert

Under the auspices of the Women's Association of Central United Church, the Canadian National Recreation Association Glee Club appeared in its autumn concert in the church auditorium on Friday night. There was a large and enthusiastic audience on hand.

William Smith conducted. The accompanist was Peter J. Delicate and the assistant accompanist, Betty Mae Smith.

The chorus, considerably enlarged since last year, sang with a well rounded tone, fine balance and a full appreciation of the musical content of the works performend.

Mr. Smith conducted with care and precision and it was evident that he had rehearsed his singers carefully and that there was a complete understanding between singers and conductor.

Choral numbers included As Torrents in Summer, Elgar; Funiculi-Funicula, Denza; O No John, Thiman; Nobody Knows de Trouble I've Seen, Burleigh; The Big Brown Bear, Mana-Zucca and Gloria, Mozart.

There were several soloists. With their solos, they were Thelma Rice, soprano, Into the Night, Edwards; W. J. Angus, baritone, Arm, Arm, Ye Brave, Handel; F. McCready, cornet, The Lost Chord, Sullivan; Jocelyn Rogers, pianist, Fantasie Impromptu, Chopin; Lois Karren, soprano, Canterbury Fair, Smith; Lois Karran and George Parkinson, duet, Tea For Two, Youmans; William Smith, tenor, Still as the Night, Bohm. A reading was given by W. E. Briggs.

There was an introduction by the Rev. E. H. Birdsall, minister of Central United church.

First Cadet Group Sees Headquarters

Edmonton army cadets Saturday morning made their first familiarization trip to Headquarters, Western Army Command, with a group of young soldiers from the 19th Armored Car Regiment, the first to get a close-up of a command headquarters.

They were conducted on their trip by Lt. F. J. Schwandt, Northern Alberta cadet officer.

First point of interest was the headquarters building where they were met by Maj. J. K. Mahony, VC. From there they went to Western Command signals centre, to see operators in constant communication with such centres as Winnipeg and Ottawa.

They inspected the RCAF maintenance centre before going to the Calder Signals Centre, to see despatch and receipt of messages from beyond the Arctic Circle.

Adjourn Probe On Milk Prices

Hearing of an application by the Edmonton City Dairy, Woodland Dairy Ltd., and Jasper Dairy for an increase in milk prices compatible with increased production costs, was adjourned Friday until Thursday of next week.

Friday afternoon's sitting of the Board of Utility Commissioners, dealing with the application, was taken up with cross-examination of H. O. Patriquin, chartered accountant, on the cost accounting system used by the distributing firms.

L. Y. Cairns, KC, counsel for the board, sought to establish that the allocation of certain costs to the fluid milk department were inequitable.

Mr. Patriquin said the accounting system used was satisfactory, and was equitable to consumers.

A. J. Ottewell, Clover Bar dairy farmer, testified that as a member of a provincial board he had endeavored to have dairy farmers enter a co-opertive scheme to provide veterinarian services for treatment of mastitis in cattle. Under the plan, each farmer's herd would be inspected and infected cattle treated for a fee of $50 for the year. Only 14 farmers were willing to participate, and the plan could not be put into operation.

Mastitis, according to evidence given at the hearing, has been taking a heavy toll of cattle in the Edmonton milk shed.

Seek Restriction On .22 Weapons

The humble .22 calibre rifle should be prohibited or its use sharply restricted, according to opinion voiced at a meeting of Edmonton branch, Northern Alberta Fish and Game Association, held in the Recreation Building Friday night.

Members of the association felt the drop in number of upland game birds was partially due to the indiscriminate use of small-calibre weapons in the hands of irresponsible persons. A, committee was appointed to make a report on the problem at the next meeting of the association.

E. S. Huestis Alberta game commissioner, appealed for the support of sportsmen and sports organizations in enforcement of game laws, which are resigned to conserve the country's resources.

Films from the movie library of the University of Alberta and the games branch of the provincial government were shown. The letter included color photos of the pheasant farm at Brooks, for which Mr. Huestis supplied running comment.

Two City Seamen To Be Decorated

Two Edmonton seamen, Leading Stoker's Assistant A. W. C. Williston, 9933 81 avenue, and Stoker 1st Class A. M. Reid, 11542 83 street, will be invested with British Empire Medals in a ceremony at HMCS Nonsuch Monday evening.

The investiture will be conducted by Rear Admiral E. R. Mainguy, RCN, commanding officer, Pacific coast, and will take place at 7:30 p.m.

Williston is to be decorated for distinguished service during engagements in European waters, while Reid's award is for inspiring work while on duty in the Atlantic.

Rear Admiral Mainguy, who will arrive in the city during the week-end, will inspect all ranks at Nonsuch during Monday's ceremonies. While in the city he will confer with ranking army and air force officers.

Plan to Hold Phone Conference

WINNIPEG, Nov. 22—(CP)—Action to be taken by Canadian automobile dealers as a result of Monday's imposition of higher duties on cars and the prohibition on United States-built cars entering Canada will be decided early next week, it was reported here last night.

R. A. Divens, general manager of Wright Motors, said directors of the Federation of Automobile Dealers Associations of Canada will hold a dominion-wide telephonic conference Monday or Tuesday to decide what steps should be taken to meet higher prices and new restrictions.

Calls For Public Investigation

CALGARY, Nov. 22—(CP)—The Calgary-Edmonton highway last spring looked like the new road it was supposed to be, but already it looks and feels like an old road and in a couple of years "it will have to be built over again," Harper Prowse, Alberta Liberal leader, said in an address to the Calgary Liberal Association annual meeting last night.

He said there was some confusion over whether the Treasury Branch loaned O. B. Lassiter government money or depositors' money to finance the 100,000-acre Wanham Land-clearing project. The government is now foreclosing on Mr. Lassiter. "Only the legislature has the right to vote public money," said Mr. Prowse. The situation called for "complete public investigation," he said.

Mr. Prowse also said a woollen mill "in the south" should be investigated. About $122,000 of Treasury Branch money and $16,000 of someone else's money went into it, he said. He challenged the $750,000 or more spent in the Athabasca Tar Sands project. Altogether, the government has put about $2,000,000 into questionable commercial ventures, he said.

Sigma Delta Chi, a men's professionalism journalistic fraternity, has more than 12,000 members.

About 400 Chinese residents of Edmonton went to the polls here on Friday to elect representatives from Canada to the central Chinese government at Nanking. Miss Mary Crawford Elected CCF President

Miss Mary R. Crawford of Edmonton was elected president of the newly-formed CCF Provincial Women's Committee when out-of-town women attending the CCF convention in the city were guests of the Edmonton CCF Women's Club at a banquet and meeting in the Embassy room Friday evening.

Elmer E. Roper, MLA, CCF provincial leader, A. J. E. Liesemer, MLA, Calgary; J. E. Cook, provincial president, and A. M. Nicholson, MP, were also special guests.

The new organization which will be integrated into the provincial and federal constituency set-up and which will have a representative on the CCF provincial board, will co-ordinate CCF women's activities throughout the province and carry on educational and organization work. Miss Crawford and Mrs. Nellie Peterson, first vice-president of the Alberta CCF spoke briefly on the need for such an organization.

Reports on the work of women's groups were given by Mrs. G. Y. MacPhee, Camrose, CCF Women's Club; Miss Ruth Cherry, Calgary CCF Women's Club and Mrs. H. Scott, Edmonton CCF Women's Club. Miss Jean Dixon reported on CCF student activities at the University of Alberta and Mrs. Jean McNeely on the New Commonwealth Club.

Miss Cherry, Calgary school teacher who spent the last year in England, told of the important place women occupy in the British Labor Party organization. British Labor women assisted greatly during elections by canvassing the electorate. She mentioned the town of Jarrow where 36,000 out of 46,000 voters were personally canvassed in the by-election made necessary by the death of Miss Ellen Wilkinson, the sitting member.

She pointed out that the Labor party laid great stress on its educational policy and sponsored schools for both men and women.

Miss Cherry told of a week-end school which she had attended at the home of Sir Charles Trevalyn where Dr. Strauss, MP, was the lecturer. The wives of miners, farmers and shop-keepers attending the school were then in a position to go out and do educational work in their communities and answer criticisms directed against the Labor government. It was brought out at one of these lectures, said Miss Cherry, that the people of Britain were consuming 38 per cent more milk in 1947 than they did in 1939. Different people were consuming it of course, said Miss Cherry. As with the case of all food, clothing and other essentials, everyone was now getting their fair share," she explained.

Much hard devoted work went into the winning of elections in Britain Miss Cherry said. "If the same effort were put forth by CCF people in Alberta they too could elect a people's government."

Mrs. Edith Rogers, president of the Edmonton Women's CCF Club, presided.

Fallow Speaks Of Road Program

CALGARY, Nov. 22—(CP)—Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, said in an interview last night he will recommend to the provincial government "very shortly" that completion of the survey of the international highway from Elkwater Lake to Wildhorse, south of Medicine Hat, be completed and construction get underway early next year.

Mr. Fallow made the statement following his address to members of the Calgary branch, Alberta Motor Association, at the annual meeting.

Survey of the highway, which will link Havre, Montana, and Medicine Hat, commenced last summer, but due to unfavorable weather conditions, it was discontinued.

The proposed route, directly through the scenic cypress hills, has not been altered, he stated.

In his address, the minister said, that in the first two years of the current five year program (1946-47) 365 miles of highway had been hardsurfaced, 285 miles are in varying stages of completion, and 300 miles are carrying a standard grade, ready for hard-surfacing within the next three years.

"Averaging 300 miles a year of black top, it will mean that between 1,300-1,400 miles of black-top will be completed by the end of the program."

This year, 1,287 miles of road were graded, and 2,208 miles were gravelled by municipalities, on the $1,200,000 grant by the provincial government.

Tax Removal Not Fully Felt

Although the Dominion government's order removing the eight per cent tax on natural gas used in dwellings as of Nov. 18 it will be some time before the full effect of this can be reflected in the monthly bills of the gas company, it was announced Saturday by company officials.

It was pointed out that as the company's meters are read monthly on various dates readings until Dec. 18 will be partly taxable. The proportion of the billing subject to sales tax will be determined on a pro rata basis according to the number of days in the meter reading prior and subsequent to November 18.

Text of the company's statement follows:

The recent excise tax changes announced by the Dominion government removed the eight per cent sales tax on gas used in dwellings on and after Nov. 18, 1947. Under governmental orders, this tax is to apply to gas consumed prior to Nov. 18, 1947, which means that on all meter readings covering a period both prior and subsequent to that date, the utility company is forced by government ruling to collect tax on behalf of the government, the proportion of the billing subject to sales tax being determined on a pro rata basis according to the number of days in the meter reading period prior and subsequent to Nov. 18 1947. Consumers' meters are read monthly on various dates and, therefore, readings until aproximately Dec. 18 will be partially taxable.

The taxable portion will decrease as the reading date approaches Dec. 18. As billings are not completed until a few days after the meters are read, this means that under the regulations completely tax-free bills will not be received until during the fourth week of December.

In the case of a meter read on Dec. 2, for example, the reading will include 15 taxable and 15 tax-free days and the sales tax will, therefore, be 50 per cent of the amount which would previously have been collected. In other words, the tax in this case would be four per cent rather than eight per cent of the net billing. It should be noted that the tax is and has been a sales tax based upon the dollar amount rather than a consumption tax.

Manning Against Austerity Plan

CALGARY, Nov. 22—(CP)—The federal government's recently announced austerity program would only result in higher prices, less goods and increased taxes, Premier Ernest Manning declared when he addressed a public meeting here last night.

"They tell us that we've been living beyond our means and that the situation won't be remedied until we dig some more gold out of a hole in Canada and bury it in another hole in the United States," said the premier.

Neither wage increases nor price controls would solve the present problem of rising costs because wage increases were only passed along to the consumer and price control merely staved off the day of reckoning much in the manner of a moratorium.

The premier stated there would be no need of an austerity program for Canada if three basic steps were implemented:

1. Uninterrupted production.
2. Full and complete monetization off goods produced (A dollar's worth of purchasing power for every dollar's worth of goods produced.)
3. Equitable distribution of this additional purchasing power.

The meeting was sponsored by the Calgary Social Credit Constituency Association.

$8,965 Damages Awarded Couple

Damages totalling $8,965.95 were awarded Mrs. Eleanor Young and James W. Young, Winnipeg, against Ronald Otto, Edmonton, in a supreme court judgment handed down Saturday by Mr. Justice J. Boyd McBride.

The court action arose out of an automobile accident on Nov. 5, 1945 in which Mrs. Young received injuries to her left leg which resulted in amputation above the knee. She also suffered a broken shoulder blade, and fractures to spinal vertebrae and cuts, lacerations and bruises on the head and body.

The jurist held that Mrs. Young, in crossing the avenue at a point other than an intersection, had contributed 40 per cent to the accident, and that the defendant was 60 per cent to blame for not keeping a proper lookout.

He awarded Mrs. Young a total of $11,317.50 general and special damages, but she will be able to recover only $6,790.50 of that amount because of her 40 per cent negligence.

Her husband was awarded $3,675.65 general and special damages, but can collect only $2,175.45 of that amount due to the assessment of responsibility.

Neil D. Maclean, KC, was counsel for the plaintiffs, and Sidney Wood, KC, for the defendant.

Two New Blocks Oil, Gas Issued

Two new blocks of oil and natural gas reservations were issued by the provincial department of lands and mines during the week ended Nov. 20, according to the weekly report issued Saturday morning.

F. Armour Ford, KC, was granted the lease on a block of 98,560 acres between Olds and Three Hills on behalf of a client and the Hudson's Bay Oil and Gas Company Ltd., were issued a lease on a block of nearly equal size between Red Deer and Rocky Mountain House.

Royal Couple Get Flood of Mail

ROMSEY, Hampshire, England, Nov. 22.—(Reuters)—The tiny village post office here was deluged Friday morning with letters and telegrams for Princess Elizabeth and her consort who were quietly enjoying the first day of their honeymoon at Broadlands, mansion of Prince Philip's uncle, Viscount Mountbatten.

All day yesterday and through the night thousands of telegrams arrived from all parts of the world and the royal couple had a big task ahead today opening them all and dictating replies.

Newspapers containing pictures and column after column of lyrical reporting of the wedding were on the couple's breakfast table.

The following official statement was issued from Buckingham Palace on the instruction of Princess Elizabeth and her husband:

"The Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh have received a very large number of telegrams and letters from towns and countries, from local authorities, from schools, institutions and organizations, and from private individuals wishing them happiness and good fortune.

"Their Royal Highnesses would like the senders to know that their kind thoughts have added a great deal to their happiness at this time.

"Their royal highnesses cannot hope to answer all these letters and telegrams personally, but ask that this general acknowledgement may be accepted as expressing the gratitude which they most sincerely feel."

Protest Aspects Of New Embargoes

TORONTO, Nov. 22. — (CP) — Thomas Oakley, president of the Canadian Importers and Traders Association Inc., representing some 325 firms in the wholesale, retail and manufacturing business, announced Friday a telegram had been sent Finance Minister Abbott in protest against "certain aspects of the new embargoes and taxes which were applied by the government," Nov. 17.

He contended government action in banning admittance of certain articles would result in "a lot of companies being forced out of business, scarcity of commodities, rising prices and a period of unemployment," and said these points had been made in the telegram:

1. "The proposed excise taxes on your prohibited list of items should be removed.

2. "The proposed prohibitions on the importation of goods from soft-currency countries (which include Great Britain) should be removed.

3. "All goods covered by bona fide orders placed with foreign suppliers prior to Nov. 17 and now prohibited should be admitted into Canada provided shipments are made within the terms of the order and/or within a reasonable length of time."

Court Orders Shares Returned

TORONTO, Nov. 22.—(CP)—The Ontario Appeal Court Thursday ordered Bear Exploration and Radium Ltd., to return to Yellowknife Gold Mines, Ltd., 700,000 shares of Yellowknife now quoted at about $2.

The court upheld a decision made Aug. 24, 1946, by Chief Justice J. C. Meruer voiding option arrangements by which Bear obtained the stock from Yellowknife at 30 cents about Nov. 15, 1944.

The action was brought by James J. Gray, a Yellowknife shareholder. It was his second successful action in connection with the companies. The appeal court last Monday ordered Bear to return to Yellowknife 350,000 shares of giant Yellowknife now quoted at about $6.

Frigate to Aid Weather Service

OTTAWA, Nov. 22.—(CP)—The Royal Canadian Navy frigate St. Stephen, commanded by Lieut. R. M. Chadwick and manned by a Canadian naval crew, will sail from Halifax today to take up position "Baker," midway between the southern tip of Greenland and Labrador, as a Canadian contribution to the North Atlantic weather reporting service.

Says Spies Found At Atomic Plant

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Representative Clarence Cannon (Dem. Mo.) said Friday a house committee learned of a secret wartime visit to the Oak Ridge, Tenn., atom bomb plant that foreign spies were working there.

"In fact," Cannon said in an interview, "we were told there were spies from all the enemy nations."

Cannon said the spies were permitted to stay on the job so they could be watched and the spy network traced.

"We were told these spies couldn't do any damage because workers in one building were never allowed to know what workers in another building were doing. Besides, a system was set up to fool them."

Cannon was chairman of the house appropriations committee which made the trip in May, 1945, after some congressmen, he said, began to grumble about the "foolishness" of spending millions on the then secret atom plant.

Norwood Area Business Expands

District Expansion Shows Rapid Growth

Building up of the Norwood district as a residential centre has been a recognized aspect of Edmonton's well-planned city for several years. Not so well-recognized has been the rapid growth of the district as a business and community shopping centre.

VISITORS to Norwood Boulevard who have been unaware of this growth have expressed considerable surprise at the changes noted. Where a few years ago the Boulevard was able to boast a garage, a welding shop, a hardware store and a few grocery firms, today's Norwood is well-equipped to provide service in almost every line of public need.

From a small but highly efficient wool-carding shop to a furniture store where modern home furnishings are ranged beside "knick-knacks" of other days, Norwood Boulevard has all but abolished the necessity for a Saturday afternoon downtown shopping expedition.

One of the city's largest community hardware stores is situated in the heart of the district. There is a branch of the Imperial Bank of Canada opposite sturdy, old Norwood school. There are restaurants and coffee shops on nearly every corner of the Boulevard, many of them serving, on a full-time basis, tasty meals as well as midday and after-theatre snacks. Drug stores look after medical requirements of the neighborhood and stream-lined groceterias keep local larders well-stocked at reasonable prices.

A USED CAR dealer has premises near the route of the Norwood-to-West-End trolley . . . and for those citizens already possessed of mechanical transportation, there are garages and service stations aplenty.

To keep residents of this thriving area up-to-date on neighborhood activities, a weekly newspaper is circulated throughout the community. Both daily newspapers have sub-depots in the district. For the residents who supplement their newspaper reading with radio news, an electrical and home appliance dealer is situated on the Boulevard ready with new radios for the buying public as well as to keep older sets in top notch working order.

Generally speaking, Norwood Boulevard offers residents of the community "everything from soup to nuts" and a whole lot else besides. Merchants of the district, according to recent interviews, strive at all times to keep their prices at a par and in some cases lower, than prices offered by corresponding businesses in the downtown section of the city. They are assisted in this endeavour by a relatively low overhead, adding up to a better, all-round neighborhood service.

Above are scenes on 111 avenue, "Norwood Boulevard," one of the busiest city thoroughfares and showing some of the latest and most up-to-date stores in that area.

Merrick's Drug Store Ready For Christmas

Continuing a policy of top-quality service at prices that actually save their customers money, Merrick Drug Stores Ltd.'s latest branch, that on Norwood Boulevard this week was preparing for the Christmas rush. A large stock of merchandise, including ever popular lines of toiletries for men and women has been gathered together, and these, along with others, are expected to receive a warm ovation from Norwood residents seeking gift suggestions.

The Norwood Boulevard branch commenced operation in its new premises last February, with the paint still literally wet on the walls. As the first few weeks of its inauguration passed, final decorative touches were completed, modernistic light fixtures installed and counters arranged. By the first of May, the new branch was complete and already doing a rushing business.

With a floor space measuring 50 by 30 feet, the Norwood branch is one of the larger of the six Edmonton Merrick Drug Stores. Manager of the branch is "Jim" Dunnigan, graduate of the University of Alberta and well known in the district, where he operated the old Norwood branch for six years prior to the opening of new premises. Mr. Dunnigan, as pharmacist, is assisted in operating the store by Miss Margaret Nowell and Miss Gwen Tanner, who constitute the sales staff.

In addition to carrying a full line of drugs and toiletries, the Norwood branch features, in a large and easily accessible space, a complete selection of American and Candian magazines and books. Another counter features plastic toys and more recently, mechanical "wind-up" toys dolls and other items dear to the heart of youngsters everywhere. A pleasing selection of greeting cards, designed to meet the demands of every occasion is another side-line at the branch.

Smokers' requisites, ranging from a wide variety of cigarettes to pipes and pipe tobaccos are a popular feature, according to Mr. Dunnigan.

The Norwood Boulevard branch also operates a sub-post office for the convenience of district residents. Both this service and the store proper operate on a 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. schedule weekdays, while on Sundays and holidays, the doors are open from 12 noon to 6 p.m.

Seasonal suggestions for gifts adapted to the Christmas season include toiletries for both men and women in a wide range of favorite and long-established brands, toys, shaving sets, Christmas decorations and the always popular boxed candies.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

In my column this last Thursday, at the request of readers, I outlined in detail the treatment for an extremely dry skin. Today I will give you a daily routine for an oily skin.

When you first get up in the morning, wash your face and neck in soap and water. If you are subject to blackheads or large pores, which is so often characteristic of the extremely oily skin, use a complexion brush for stimulation. Rinse well with warm water. Follow by cold water splashing. Dry the face with a soft towel and apply an astringent to the face.

If you use a makeup base select one which is especially planned for the oily skin. During the day try to find time to repeat the soap and water treatment two times. When night comes, just before retiring, do the same thing, this time adding the astringent to your treatment. Many women make the mistake of using creams on an oily skin.

While the dry skin is much more subject to lines than the oily one, yet lines will, in time, appear even on the oily surface. They may be apparent quite young in life if a woman indulges in highly animated facial expressions. For the lines use the routine outlined before in this column. Apply cream to the lines. Use your forefinger, moving along the lines with a rotary motion.

Court plaster is again on the market and is available in efficient and attractive shapes. Use this at night. Remove the cold cream, smooth the line out and paste the plaster over the line. Remove the plaster in the morning.

The woman with an oily skin may have special problems, such as blackheads, large pores and pimples, but she can avoid these if she will use preventative measures. She can console herself with the fact that her skin will line and age less quickly than her thin skinned sister.

If you wish to have my leaflet No. 48, "Clear The Way for Beauty" which gives treatment for blackheads, large pores and pimples, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

Find Your Fortune In A Deck Of Cards

"What has fortune in store for me?"—a provoking question and you can answer it, in fun anyway.

The next time there's a party you can emerge as the Grand Oracle. All that's needed is a deck of cards and a set of polished answers as the cards turn up.

Have the inquirer first shuffle and cut the cards. Then put the three top cards face up on the table.

Black cards predict a bleak outlook—cloudy future—trouble ahead.

The black king or queen, however, do foretell good fortune, in the shape of faithful friends who will stand by you even should dark days come.

The black jack on the other hand warns you to be on your guard. You have an unsuspected enemy!

Red cards signify good fortune and a rosy atmosphere of love and [illegible].

When a mixture of the two colors shows up, it's up to you as Grand Oracle to combine their meanings.

What do the cards say about romance, jobs, financial position, marriage—all the questions that are fun at a party? See our Reader Service booklet No. 65 for fortune-telling answers to use with cards, tea leaves, dominoes, the stars.

120,000 Benefit

REGINA, Nov. 22 — (CP) — Premier T. C. Douglas last night estimated that approximately 120,000 people would benefit this year from Saskatchewan's plan of prepaid hospital care upon payment of an annual $5 tax.

opponent is standing up. Always wait until he is comfortably seated, preferably on one of those narrow benches behind a restaurant table from which it is impossible to arise without becoming entangled in the furniture, the tablecloth and the water pitcher. This is simple mathematics involving the shortest distance between two points.

Seated, your victim has much less distance to fall than standing, and should thank you for your courtesy and forethought. If you cannot catch him sitting down, then at least take the sensible precaution to nail him on the dance floor when he has his back to the orchestra. By the time he has managed to unsnarl himself from the tangle of music stands, maracas, tenor saxes and bull fiddles into which you have knocked him, you can be home giving out interviews.

Rule 3: Do not ever let the punch go unless you are accompanied by friends who can be relied upon to step between you immediately and hold you back, or even better, who will leap upon the prostrate form of the enemy, pinioning his arms and legs and crying out to him, "Don't hit him again. He's all cut and bleeding" thereby causing the victim to believe he has won and permitting himself to be ejected quietly. By the time he reads about it in the morning papers it is too late for him to do anything about it.

Pick Small Man

Rule 4: This is just common sense. Never let the punch go at anyone younger, taller, or stronger than you, since, unless you have had considerable practice with the Sneak or Cafe punch, it is conceivable that you might miss, setting up an irritation in the other party that is bound to lead to unpleasant consequences. A columnist or innocent bystander of about 55 years of age, five-foot-two, weight 120 pounds, with a chest measurement of 27 inches makes the ideal opponent for a successful one-puncher. Don't worry about his gray hairs or advanced rheumatism causing unpleasant comment. You can always say that you thought he was going to pull a gun on you.

Rule 5: Never throw a punch unless you know where there is a columnist or reporter handy to whom you can telephone your side of the affair immediately. This is as important as it was to the fight managers in the No-Decision days to beat the other fellow to the telegraph office.

Okay, Son. Now you're ready to go out and make a name for yourself and become an Important Citizen.

No Co-Operation Counsel Charges

OTTAWA, Nov. 22.—(CP)—The Canadian railways should not be granted freight-rate increases in the face of "disregard" of federal legislation calling for economies through co-operation between the two big lines, Saskatchewan Counsel M. A. MacPherson declared yesterday before the Board of Transport Commissioners.

Mr. MacPherson, continuing final argument for provinces opposing 30-per cent rate increases, charged the 1933 federal statute calling for such co-operative steps had become a "dead letter." According to evidence in the inquiry, he said, neither of the major systems had joint economies in progress or pending.

Centering his attack on the Canadian Pacific railway, Mr. MacPherson continued criticism of that company's financial practices, hitting particularly at its maintenance and depreciation methods.

Clashes between the Saskatchewan counsel and railway lawyers broke out several times during the day. Railway counsel challenged his right to refer to the question of co-operative economies, declaring it was beyond the jurisdiction of the board and within that of parliament only.

Allowed to proceed on the point, Mr. MacPherson urged that the railways should be forced to show they had undertaken co-operation before being allowed to ask for more money.

"They should have to show how they are conducting their business before they can come and ask for more money," Col. J. R. Ralston, Maritimes counsel, said in support.

Stay-On Hat New Invention

LONDON, Nov. 22.—(Reuters)—A new British invention—"the hat that will not blow off"—is to be taken to the United States by W. D. Jefferies, managing director of a firm of women's hat manufacturers.

The treasury has granted him permission to spend £400 ($1,600) for a four-week stay.

Jeffries said the hat is made of special elastic yarn, enabling it to stay on the head even in a blizzard.

Your Baby and Mine

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Maureen Raye, 10 months old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Clark of R.R. 6, North Edmonton.

Whenever there is any discussion of toilet training the older mothers in the group are certain to laud the benefits of beginning early. This is confusing to the younger mothers who at the dictation of their babies' doctors have been told not to institute bladder training before the fourteenth month or later, and bowel training not before the first year.

There are reasons for this division of opinion. Research on child development has made it plain that it is unfair to the child to demand controls until development makes them possible. Given time all children assume these cultural patterns to which they are exposed. But to demand that they fall in line before their growth and development have made this a conscious control, makes for the problems of personality and of behavior that may seem unrelated to toilet training.

There is no harm in putting the child, old enough to sit up easily, on the toilet at regular intervals. This should be looked upon as a ceremony which gives the child some familiarity with the toilet seat. There may be times, if the mother is alert to the child's needs, when this will make for temporary success. The child is "caught" at just the right time and urinates or defecates upon demand. The mother should show her pleasure at this grown-up behavior.

But, up to and beyond the second year it is a mistake to make a fuss if the child does not cooperate at times. It should be expected that there will be periods when the child will refuse to sit on the toilet; when the evacuation will take place after he or she has been removed from it; when wetting at any old time will be the order of the day. When the mother expects such behavior of her child she will not tend to think it peculiar or indicative of his special naughtiness.

It is a mistake when a parent punishes a child for accidents or relates punishment to these natural functions. She should rely upon regularity of attention, upon the influence of the family behavior, to teach the child what is expected of him. Then he will follow these customs when he has developed to a point where he is conscious of his own needs. It is the great difference in the speed of this development which accounts for early success, not the cleverness of the parental toilet-training practices.

Our leaflet No. 65, on "Toilet Training," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

HAM AND CHEESE Biscuits

2 cups sifted flour
4 tsps. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
3 tbsps. Jewel Shortening
½ cup grated nippy cheese
⅔ cup milk
½ cup minced cooked ham
1 tsp. chopped onion
creamed butter

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in Blended Jewel finely and add cheese (Jewel is odourless, tasteless—protects the flavour of other ingredients!) Gradually add enough milk to make a soft dough, then pat to ¾" thickness. Cut out biscuits with a floured cutter and bake on a Jewelled pan in a hot oven (450 degrees) for 12 to 15 minutes. When biscuits are done and still hot, split and spread with ham, onion and butter creamed together. These biscuits are very good cut small for serving as a tea biscuit—or cut larger for a hearty supper dish. Make them often, to use up small amounts of left-over meat.

Campus Co-Eds Take Part in Waw-Waw Week-End

This is waw-waw week-end on the University of Alberta campus. For three days the co-eds take the initiative in the matter of dating, pay all the bills, open doors for the rah-rah boys and generally be in command of the situation. These pictures show some of the co-eds with their captured dates in the Tuck Shop. In the top picture left to right are Miss Marjorie Everson of Lethbridge; Jack Little of Edmonton; Miss Jeanne Adams and Jeep Hall, both of Calgary. The lower picture shows Miss Avery Smith and Jim McIntyre, both of Edmonton, busy sweet-talking over a milk-shake.

Waw-Waw Week-End Marked By University Students

By MARGARET WEIR

Professors and students alike were whirled into the swirl of Waw-Waw activity on the university campus yesterday and today. It's tradition that the co-eds do the dating and foot the bills. In the opinion of all they were doing a "wizard job."

Great quantities of coffee and doughnuts have been consumed since Friday morning at the Varsity cafeteria and Tuck Shop. Some lucky lads have even been entertained over savory steaks and fried chicken. It's a gay week-end on the campus.

Professors, too, seem to find it difficult to refuse the co-eds' bid for a coffee date. They've joined in the merriment by journeying to Tuck or Caf. for their Waw-Waw treat.

But when a professor accepts an invitation to coffee, along go the fellows of the class. Piggy banks have surely been shaken this week-end.

The popularity of three medical co-eds is assured. They not only entertained their prof. but the 50 male members of the class. However, engineering students were feeling a little bleak, for co-eds are an unknown quantity in many of their lectures. Yet first year civils found an answer to the problem. They had a bevy of freshettes ask their professor for a Tuck date, and of course the boys tagged along.

It's been a haven, these last two days, for students who neglected to do their homework.

Squeals of laughter greeted the fashion show presented Friday evening in the Garneau theatre. As part of the week-end's fun a program arranged by the students was presented at 8:30 p.m.

It was the boys who modeled the styles. Needless to say, the "new look" certainly did look a little new. Reminiscent of the prosperous twenties were many of the party dresses displayed. Recalling a Donald Duck cartoon were the bathing suits shown.

Modelling the styles were Jim Wallbridge, Dave Shouldice, George Hardy, John MacDonald, Jack Brown, Norm Flavin, Bill Jewitt, Jim Scott and Ralph Skitch.

Winning smiles and chuckles was the skit presented by the Co-ed Club. To produce the original comedy, bits of Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet were mixed with pieces of Dogpatch nostalgia. The outcome was a trifle confusing, but certainly amusing.

Participating in the comedy were the Misses Marjorie Hammett, Edna Drake, Wilma Daniel, Martha Weiss, Jean Clark and Kay Sutherland.

With the shoe still on the other foot co-eds will entertain their fellows at an informal house dance in the Drill Shed tonight. Belles-a-Poppin is Sadie's last chance to date her ideal man.

Patronizing the program dance will be Miss Mamie Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Gowans and Dr. and Mrs. W. Selby. Some 500 couples are expected to attend the affair.

All have agreed that director Bob Urton's Waw-Waw week-end has been a hectic merry-go-round.

Lillian Lydia Kuhl Wed At Central Baptist Church

Chrysanthemums and ferns decorated Central Baptist Church for the wedding Friday at 7 p.m. of Miss Lillian Lydia Kuhl, only daughter of Albert Kuhl and the late Mrs. Kuhl, and Keith Andrew B. Stothert, elder son of Mrs. Andrew Stothert and the late Mr. Stothert, all of Edmonton. The Rev. Albert Johnson performed the ceremony. Miss Ruth McCaffety played the wedding music and during the signing of the register, Mrs. T. W. Pue sang the Wedding Prayer.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Walter Kuhl. She wore a coral pink crepe frock, a turquoise blue feather hat and a corsage of Talisman roses. Black accessories and a pearl necklace, gift of the bridegroom, completed her ensemble.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Violet Townsend, who was frocked in blue with a corsage of pink carnations.

Best man was T. W. Pue and ushers were Martin Kuhl, brother of the bride and James McCabe.

Mrs. Stothert, mother of the bridegroom wore a blue-gray crepe dress, black hat and accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

After the ceremony a reception for 26 guests was held at the King Edward hotel, where the bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake, flanked with vases of baby chrysanthemums and lighted tapers. The Rev. T. Seeley proposed the toast to the bride.

Before taking up residence in Jasper Place, the couple left for a honeymoon in Calgary, the bride donning a seal fur coat over her wedding costume.

Edmonton Dental Nurses and Assistants Association held a dance in the main dining room of the Macdonald hotel Thursday when more than 100 couples attended. Dr. P. J. Kendal and Dr. Scott Hamilton were patrons and assisted Miss Martha MacAndrew, president of the association in receiving the guests. The Misses Lou-Jane Wright and Gladys Rowsell were in charge of arrangements and Miss Jean Campbell was in charge of ticket sales.

Skene-Clark Vows Pledged

The manse of Knox United Church was the scene Friday evening of the wedding of Miss Cora Margaret Clark, daughter of Mrs. S. L. Clark and the late Mr. Clark of Edmonton, and William A. Skene, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John J. Skene, of Pincher Creek. The Rev. Gerald Rogers performed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her mother, the bride was dressed in a two-piece crepe frock of mocha shade with a matching hat of plumes and a corsage of Talisman roses.

Matron-of-honor was Mrs. J. A. Christie, sister of the bride. She wore a gold crepe dress with matching hat and a corsage of red roses.

The bride's mother wore an afternoon model of gray crepe with a grey hat and a corsage of red roses.

Best man was William Petley-Jones.

The couple left later on a honeymoon trip to Calgary, the bride travelling in a maroon suit, a muskrat coat and beige accessories. They will make their home in Edmonton.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Bert Pallister of Calgary.

$2,200 cash; Balance easy like rent
OWNER LEAVING

Young executive and his cultured wife leaving Alberta immediately, selling their beautiful large new bungalow. What a pity they can't take it with them. They have worked hard for many months to make their lovely bungalow what it is today. Lawn started, sidewalks, fence, etc. (heavy clothes line pole—and it's a good one) and many other improvements that take time and money. Perfect decorations throughout, the floors are in top condition. They have indeed made a lovely home of their fine large new bungalow and it is a pity they can't take it with them. Their loss is your gain. They are taking with them, of course, their darling little baby girl.

$2,200 gives possession
$36 monthly (and taxes) pays off the balance just like rent.
AND THE PRICE IS RIGHT.
Selling below today's construction costs. A LARGE bungalow, all rooms are spacious, well constructed. An intelligent, scientific plan.

GOOD NEIGHBOURS. A nice place to live. Not too far out; not too far to schools, easy walking distance to public school and also not far to a Catholic school. This beautiful bungalow is on a gravel street among many other new high class attractive homes. You will like the surroundings. The neighbours are of the best in all Edmonton. This is an unusual opportunity to buy such a good value on the easy terms of $2,200 cash, with the balance just like rent. Lyle Brothers believe this is the "ONE AND ONLY" on today's market.

LARGE LIVING ROOM. Sunny, bright living room with East and South windows. Beautiful, highly polished hardwood floors. Superior finished woodwork. Lovely doors, floors and plaster. An attractive French door opens into the living room from the entrance hall. This spacious living room is suitable for piano, large chesterfield suite and dinette suite.

DeLUXE BATHROOM. Attractive bathroom with the latest and best bathroom fixtures.

BRIGHT KITCHEN. Spacious, yet not too large. Bright and cheerful. Just right for an attractive breakfast table. Everything is so handy. Compact, yet not crowded. Latest and best type sink. A marvelous, scientific set of beautiful built-in cupboards.

TWO BRIGHT BEDROOMS. Both bedrooms large enough for full size furniture — one bedroom is extra large. Nice pleasant outlook from bedroom windows. Lots of sunshine. (One of these bedrooms is suitable for a nice dining room, if you wish.)

CONCEALED STAIRWAY. A nice, easy, built-in stairway is finished. You may add to it in the future if and when your family may need more space. Two large bright rooms could be added upstairs easily and quickly at a minimum of cost. This bungalow was intelligently built according to the latest and best scientific plans.

SUPERIOR BASEMENT. Side door entrance. You will like the good, deep, full size, concrete basement with lots of head room. The latest type gas furnace and other utilities are all laid out just right, leaving most of the basement free. Suitable to build extra rooms or play room. Lyle Brothers believe the basement will pass your approval 100%.

$2,200 GIVES POSSESSION.
Owner leaving immediately. Lyle Brothers recommend this value as being unusual and GOOD at the price of $7,750. Balance payable just like rent. We believe this bungalow is superior to many selling hundreds of dollars higher.

PLEASE DON'T ASK FOR ADDRESS
Appointments both day and night. Phone Office 22512, Evenongs 71530. Owner has requested that we do not give address. Even their best friends do not know it is for sale.

Radio Ankara Wars On Reds In Answer To Soviet Charges

ANKARA, (NANA) — A radio battle is being waged in the Balkans between nations in the Russia orbit and Turkey. And the evidence indicates that the Turks are more than holding their own.

A recent protest by the Bulgarian government against what it termed "provocative and hostile broadcasts emanating from Radio Ankara serves to confirm reports from Balkan travellers and refugees that the official turkish radio is countering Soviet propaganda in this area with increasing effect. Indeed, they assert that it has become the most articulate spokesman for the western democracies — especially in Bulgaria, Romania, Yugoslavia, Greece and Hungary.

Fed by a sizeable monitoring and press-reading service radio Ankara, first of all, undertakes to answer Soviet charges and to explode Red claims. Although its newscasts are not angled at all, it frequently follows them up with vigorous commentaries which are virtual counterattacks on Russian propaganda.

It has become the valuable champion of the Truman doctrine and the Marshall Plan, which it describes as "a collective security effort led by America, whose aim is world peace."

Vigorously denying that the United States is imperialistic, radio Ankara consistently refers to the democracies as "the peace-loving nations" and to members of the Russian bloc as "satellites," whom it chides daily for submissiveness.

Scoffing at Soviet U N Delegate Andrei Vishinsky's charges of western warmongering, Radio Ankara sticks to the line that it is the Soviet which menaces peace. It asserts that poverty is an instrument of war which the Russians use, while the United States and her friends seek peace through prosperity and stability. Nor do Turkish broadcasters permit their listeners to forget that the Soviet and the Nazis once signed a pact of friendship.

In turn, the government radios of the Russian-bloc nations call Turkey an American colony whose government has Fascist tendencies. They like to remind the Turks that they were neutral during the war.

Because of its proximity, Radio Ankara can generally send a clear, strong signal into the Balkan countries. It broadcasts daily in Bulgarian, Romanian, Hungarian and Serbo-Croat. However no Russian programs are broadcast, because the Turks claim there are not enough private short-wave receiving sets in the Soviet to warrant such an undertaking. Turkish broadcasters declare that some privileged and trusted Russian citizens, especially in the Moscow area, did have private short-wave sets until last year, but that these were appropriated when the "Voice of America" launched programs in Russian under the direction of the state department.

Travellers from Bucharest, attesting to the popularity of Radio Ankara, assert that there is an anti-Communist organization there known as "the free Romanians" which monitors its newcasts and distributes them clandestinely each day in bulletin form.

The Turks now are building a new 150-kilowatt medium-wave station in Istanbul and stepping up the transmission power of Radio Ankara to 100 kilowatts.

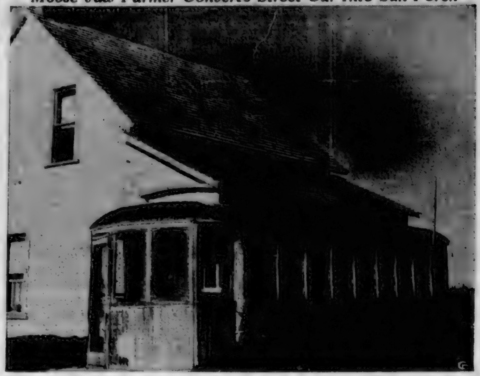
Moose Jaw Farmer Converts Street Car Into Sun Porch



This Moose Jaw farm home veranda has, if nothing else, plenty of windows. The veranda was formerly a Moose Jaw street car, bought by the farmer when the city converted to buses. Edmonton similarly is disposing of old street car bodies as the transit system changes from trams to trolley and motor buses.

Livestock

EDMONTON LIVESTOCK

Stockyards receipts for week: cattle 3,368; calves 991; hogs 3,040; sheep 1,678.

There was good action on the Edmonton cattle market throughout the past week, with prices fully steady, to slightly firmer in spots. Receipts were normal, the general quality showing some improvement. Under a good demand all offerings moved readily and salesmen made a good week-end clearance.

The practical top on steers was $13 per cwt., with a few strictly choice realising $13.50. Choice butcher heifers sold mostly from $11.00 to $11.50 per cwt., odd ones at 11.75. The bulk of the heifers on offer sold from 10.50 per cwt, down to a low of 6.00. The cow market held fully steady, good lights selling from 8.25 to 8.75 with a few extreme tops at 9.00. Bulls sold from 6.50 to 8.50.

Notice to Truckers: Overloaded shipments and lack of bedding is causing bruising and damage to stock. Now that cold weather is coming on all truckers must be prepared to protect stock against shipping damage, by supplying separating partitions, ample bedding and tarpaulins.

Stockers and feeders in demand at firm prices. Good steers 10. to 11.50, short keeps of good breeding 12, plain steers 8.50 to 9.50, stock heifers 7.50 to 9.50, stock cows 6.00 to 8.00.

Veal calves: good to choice handyweights 11.50 to 12.00, choice lights up to 12.50, heavy calves 8.00 to 11.00, common kinds down to 6.00.

Hogs: grade A for shipment 22.25 per cwt., at plants 21.50. Sows liveweight on yards 12 to 12.25.

Lambs: Good to choice handyweights local 12 to 12.50, off cars 13. Medium 10 to $12; yearlings 6.50 to 7.50. Light ewes 4.50 to 6.50, medium ewes 3.00 to 4.00. Feeders in limited demand from 7.00 to 9.00.

LIVESTOCK REVIEW

OTTAWA, (CP) — Cattle prices dropped 25 to 50 cents on principal Canadian markets this week, with supplies continuing heavy, the dominion agriculture department reported in its weekly livestock review.

At Toronto weighty steers sold at 11-14.40, plain to medium butcher steers and heifers 10-12.50, and good stock calves and feeding steers 13-13.50. At Montreal mixed lots of good and choice steers brought 14-15 and good cows 10-10.50.

Winnipeg had strictly a buyers' market, with cows and bulls in fair demand at steady rates. Steers and heifers were generally under pressure and these classes closed fully 25 cents to 50 cents lower. Trading at Calgary was fairly active with a good cleanup but demand none too brisk on butcher steers, which closed 50 cents below last week. A practical top of 13 was registered at Edmonton, 12 at Prince Albert, Moose Jaw 12.50; Saskatoon 13; Regina 13.50 and Vancouver 13.25-14.

Dairy cattle shipments to the United States totalled 1,301 compared with 1,273 in the same week last year. The year's exports to date amount to 47,856 compared with 63,356 in the same period last year.

Choice vealers were 16-17 per hundredweight at Toronto while at Montreal trading was active and prices 25 cents stronger on grassers and drinkers. Prices at Winnipeg were 15. Vealers were 11-11.50 at Calgary, 12.50 at Edmonton, 12 at Prince Albert, and Moose Jaw, 6-13.50 at Saskatoon, 12 at Regina.

Grade A hogs sold at 23 at Toronto, Montreal prices 22.50-23, Winnipeg 21.95; Calgary 21.50; Edmonton 22.25; Saskatoon 21.70; Regina 21.70, Vancouver 22.35-22.50; Moncton 23.75.

The above prices do not include the dominion government premium of $2 per head on grade A and $1 per head on grade B-1 hogs.

Lambs were 50 cents higher at Toronto, selling at 15 for good ewes and wethers, Montreal 14.50-15.25; at Winnipeg 13.75; Calgary 12.25-12.75; Edmonton 12-12.50; Saskatoon 9-12; Regina 12.

Week's Car Output Post-War Record

DETROIT, (AP)—Ward's Automotive Reports said Friday that a post-war record production by General Motors Corp. plants in the United States and Canada enabled the automotive industry to mark up its best output since the war during the last two weeks.

This week an estimated 111,228 cars and trucks were built in United States and Canadian plants, exceeding the previous weekly high of 110,663, as shown in last week's revised figures, and the former mark of 109,734 for the week ending Sept. 20, 1947.

The United States government is expected to ask farmers to plant approximately 6.5 percent more land to livestock feed grain next year in an effort to replenish supplies cut short by this year's poor corn crop.

Field Barley Tests Puts 70% Class A

The "crop testing plan" has now compiled the analysis of a large number of growing samples of barley, each sample representing a field of barley which farmers thought in every instance was true-to-type malting barley that would command the malting premium.

The results are as follows: 70.5% of the samples classified as "A", that is to say they were true-to-type of a good variety; 17.6% classified as "B" meaning that these crops were beginning to be mixed with inferior varities, and 11.9% graded "C" and "mixtures", which means that they did not consist of any one variety, but were mixtures of varieties which certainly could not grade as malting barley and 2.6% of the samples were found to be of an entirely different variety than the farmers thought they were growing.

O.A.C. was the most popular variety with 42% of all the samples; Plush second with 21%; Olli third with 14%; Hannchen fourth with 8% and "Montcalm" with 3.2%.

The results show a considerable improvement over last year when only 58% graded "A". There is however, still room for betterment. The use of registered seed is the only method that will ensure a true-to-variety.

To Ship All Wheat Westward Now

WINNIPEG, (CP) — Effective Saturday, all Alberta and Saskatchewan bread wheats with a favorable freight differential will be channelled to Vancouver for winter export, the Canadian wheat board announced.

The order came as a prelude to the closing of the St. Lawrence, expected sometime next month.

It names all bread grades down to No. 4 special, Garnets, and winter wheats down to grade 3 and also toughs and damps of these types.

GINKY'S SPEECH

ONCE a week the Teenie Weenies gather in the old felt hat which serves them for a town hall. That meeting is called "Grouch Night." There the little people can speak freely and settle any difference of opinion that has come up during the past week. Each Teenie Weenie with a grievance states his case and then the question is settled by a majority vote. Teenie Weenie disputes often arise, and this is a most satisfactory way to settle them.

Ginky knew about Grouch Night and one day he asked the General if he could speak before the Teenie Weenies. "I don't suppose you'd let a low-down mouse like me speak before you folks?" Ginky said.

"Certainly you can speak," answered the General. "No one is too low to speak at our Grouch Nights."

The very next meeting the mouse appeared and when the Teenie Weenies had taken their seats the General introduced Ginky.

"Fellow citizens," Ginky began. Someone snickered and Ginky glared at the Dunce before he continued. "You all know that I am a very tough mouse." The Teenie Weenies clapped their hands.

"Yes, I'm so tough I can bite nails in two and I can eat flashlight bulbs for breakfast food," Ginky said and he glared at all the little people before he went on. "I'm feeling tougher every day and I have come here to warn you that if I am not confined in your jail and well fed for the Winter I may be very dangerous to you."

Ginky picked up the cherry seed pitcher of water that stood on a table. Ignoring the reed-stem cup beside it, he drank right out of the pitcher. Then he went on with his speech.

"I'd hate to see any harm come to you folks and I ask that you jail me before I make trouble for you."

Ginky sat down and the General called for a vote. "Shall we submit to this blackmail?" the General asked the Teenie Weenies. In loud voices they voted, "NO!"

Ginky flew into a rage over the vote against him. Snatching up the cherry seed pitcher, he threw it at the General and dashed to the door, knocking down the Policeman on his way out. Ginky disappeared into the night, but the Teenie Weenies knew they would hear from him again because the mouse is very vindictive. That night he upset the contents of the garbage thimble all over the front porch and two nights later he stuffed the shoe house chimney with moss, smoking the little people out of their beds.
